Markets To Close Today As Ice Storm Grips East

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Winter dumped a crushing ice mantle across the eastern half of the country Friday that snapped power lines, disrupted travel and communications and caused damages running into unestimated millions of dollars.

GEORGIA WAS NEVER THUS!—Miss Ruby Blissitt, right, an Atlantan attached to the Boston Weather Bureau, lends a hand while Miss Edith Goodman, left, formerly of Des Moines, takes a temperature reading on the roof of the Boston Weather Station. The mercury is stuck at a cool 19 degrees. Miss Blissitt formerly served at the Atlanta Airport as a meteorological aide.

As the season's most destructive storm moved eastward, it left a wide sheath of ice stretching some 2,000 miles from the Texas-Oklahoma border to New England. Behind the sleet and freezing rains came snow, which complicated the transportation snarl.

Points all along the icy route were hard hit. Hundreds of communities were without telephone service. Many were left without water or light when utility lines snapped. Planes were grounded in many areas. Trains were running late generally and some electric roads were knocked out of service.

In Illinois alone, damage to telephone equipment was estimated at $1,200,000 by the Illinois Bell Telephone Company. Some 40 Illinois communities were without service and 3,500 telephone poles were down. Fifty-three Iowa communities were isolated as far as telephone communications were concerned. In New Jersey, an official of the Jersey Central Power and Light Company said conditions in that State were "the worst in my experience."

New York, still harried from the effects of a record 25.8-inch snowfall last Friday, was caught in the grip of the ice storm. Thousands of commuters, many of whom were stranded when transportation facilities bogged down a week ago, met the new problem by simply staying home.

The New York Stock, Curb and Cotton Exchanges and the Chicago and Boston Stock Exchanges decided not to try to operate Saturday because of the severe weather over a large part of the country.

In New York City fire in a business building spread to five other buildings, three of them apartment houses.

An 80-year-old woman plunged from the roof of a four-story building into a firemen's net with only minor injuries, and 40 other apartment dwellers were led to safety in their night clothes. Eleven firemen were injured fighting the five-alarm blaze.

Additional snow ranging up to six to 10 inches in the interior of Eastern New York was forecast for parts of the already snow-clogged Eastern Seaboard.

Hundreds of wires were down and numerous communities without electricity in the New York-New Jersey area. The ice sheet forced a halt in operations of the Lackawanna Railroad's three electrified branches running from Hoboken to Dover, Gladstone and Montclair in New Jersey. The branches carry 35,000 daily commuters.

As the sleet storm hit the East, cities from Kansas to Ohio were digging out. Snows that followed freezing rains piled up to a maximum depth of 11 inches in Kansas, a foot in Missouri, 10 inches in Southern Wisconsin, six to 10 inches in Lower Michigan, and four to six inches in Northern Illinois and Southeastern Iowa.

Rising temperatures and partly cloudy skies were forecast for most of the Midwest in the wake of the storm.

Martin Sees Tax Cut 'Quickie'

Expects House To Act Despite Sentiment For Delay in Senate

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2—(AP)—Speaker Martin said Friday tax reduction will be one of the first matters to get attention when Congress convenes next Tuesday.

He told a news conference he expects the House to pass a "quickie" tax-cut bill this month.

He said he doubted that the Senate would also pass it this month, but said the House action would put the White House on notice that tax legislation is on the way.

There has been some sentiment in the Senate for delay in tax legislation until the foreign aid and appropriation pictures are more clear.

Martin, Republican, Massachusetts, said he has no particular tax bill in mind, but Chairman Knutson, Republican, Minnesota, of the House Ways and Means Committee, has a bill to cut $5,600,000,000 from the current tax load.

"It is absolutely essential to have reduction this year," Martin said. "It will provide more 'take home' money (for workers) and an incentive to production and thereby help relieve high prices."

Martin said the amount that taxes can be reduced will depend largely "on the co-operation we get from the Administration in reducing Government expenses."

The Speaker said the House hopes to consider a long-range foreign aid plan at an early date. He indicated he believes an independent agency should be set up to handle foreign aid. Such legislation, he said, "is a genuine bipartisan approach."

Marines To Embark Tuesday For Mediterranean Training

WIN ARGUMENT, SAVE SON—Mr. and Mrs. George Bauer smile happily on learning that their seven-year-old son, James, was recovering after an operation made possible because they won an argument with an escaped convict. James Sherbondy, last of 12 escapees from Colorado's penitentiary, was holding the Bauer family in their farm home, near Canon City, when the child was stricken with appendicitis and cried for hours. The parents finally persuaded Sherbondy to allow the mother to leave for a hospital with the boy while the convict held Bauer and Myrna Ray, a 10-year-old daughter, as hostages. He was taken later without a struggle.

Carrier, 3 Cruisers To Complete Crews

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2—(UP)—The Navy announced Friday that an undisclosed number of Marines would sail Jan. 6 from Morehead City, N. C., to the Mediterranean for duty aboard the Aircraft Carrier Midway and three light cruisers, one of which is at Piraeus, Greece.

The Marines are from the Second Division. The Navy declined to say how many Marines were involved in its descriptive phrase "a group of Marines," but it was learned that they were going over on a "normal size transport of 12,000 to 15,000 tons fully loaded."

The Navy's terse 8-line "memo to the press" said the objective was "to augment the shipboard training of Marines." It likewise said "the increase will restore the total personnel on board to approximately the normal overall complement of the ship."

On the basis that such figures are "top secret," the Navy declined to give the present number of Navy and Marine personnel aboard the Midway now at Naples, Italy, and the three cruisers, the Portsmouth at Genoa, Italy, the Providence at Leghorn, Italy, and the Little Rock at Piraeus.

The Navy said the normal overall complement of a large aircraft carrier such as the Midway is 2,200, of whom about 100 are Marines, and that of light cruisers is 1,000, of whom about 50 are Marines.

But for some time American Navy ships have been undermanned, the Navy said. The inference is that it would take more than the normal number of Marines to bring the total personnel aboard the four ships involved to the "normal over-all complement."

The Navy, commenting in response to questions, disclosed that in addition to the Midway and the three cruisers, there were 10 destroyers in the Mediterranean area. This Mediterranean Fleet is commanded by Vice Adm. Bernhard Bieri.

GOP Aid Bill Urged By Taft

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2—(AP)—Sen. Taft, of Ohio, called Friday for an agreement among Congressional Republicans on a GOP version of the Marshall Plan.

Taft told a reporter he could not support President Truman's proposal for a four-year outlay that might total upwards of $20,000,000,000.

But he said he was "very anxious" that the Republicans get together as soon as possible on a program of economic assistance to Western Europe.

"I think we will have to spend between $4,000,000,000 and $3,000,000,000 in the first year in helping European nations help themselves and thus aid them in containing Communism within its present bounds," the Ohioan said.

"But if the administration insists on the Marshall Plan in its present form and resists changes in it, then I cannot support it. I cannot back a program that, essentially, merely figures up the difference between our exports and imports for the next four years and just hands that difference over to other nations."

The administration's program, based on proposals made by Secretary of State Marshall, envisions aid to 16 Western European countries and Western Germany.

Taft, an announced candidate for the Republican Presidential nomination, said he had received as yet no general reaction to a series of political speeches in Missouri last week in which he criticized proposed expenditures under the Marshall Plan.

President Truman estimated cost of the proposed aid for the first 15 months at $6,800,000,000. Taft has contended that little if any of this money would be spent before July 1, and the total outlay of American dollars proposed for foreign aid in the year beginning July 1 would reach $8,000,000,000.

He said he personally wanted all foreign assistance held within a $5,000,000,000 limit, including the cost of feeding civilians in Germany but not the expense of maintaining American occupation forces abroad.

In this connection Taft said he doubted that Congress would act in the forthcoming session officially to end hostilities, since that action might cast some legal doubt on the maintenance of American armed forces in the occupied areas.

Taft said he probably would call together Monday the Senate Republican Policy Committee, which he heads, to begin looking over the legislation program for the session which opens Tuesday.

Army 'Comptroller' Named by Royall

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2—(AP)—Establishment of an office of Comptroller of the Army "to insure that the Army produces the maximum of national defense for the taxpayers' dollar" was announced Friday by Sec. Kenneth C. Royall.

As head of the new office he named the present Chief of the Budget Division for the Army, Maj. Gen. George J. Richards.

Royall also said he contemplated "engaging as special consultant and deputy to the comtproller a topflight civilian specialist in the field of cost accounting and management engineering." He would receive "the to salary permitted by law to be paid to civilian executives," Royall said.

FBI Puts Truman's Doctor Under Grain-Trading Quiz

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2—(AP)—A New York brokerage house notified Sen. Knowland, Republican, California, Friday that the Federal Bureau of Investigation has called on it for information on the grain-trading activities of Brig. Gen. Wallace H. Graham, President Truman's personal physician.

Knowland is a member of a Senate Appropriations Subcommittee which is looking into reports that Government "insiders" profited from speculation in foodstuffs.

He told reporters, however, he did not know why the FBI was inquiring into the White House doctor's account, since it is not illegal to trade in grain or other commodity futures.

The California Senator has been insisting that the exact nature of the business arrangements between Graham and his brokers be made clear. This insistence followed a dispute which arose after the publication of Graham's name last Monday on a list of Government officials who have traded in the commodity markets.

Graham issued a statement saying he turned some money over to the broker with instructions to "use his own judgment." Bache & Company, the brokers, said Graham was kept fully informed of every transaction.

Graham also aserted in his statement that he did not know he was the holder of 50,000 bushels of wheat futures last September until he made inquiries of his broker. He added that when he learned the futures were held in his account, he ordered the broker to sell them at once.

Bache & Company then issued a counter-statement declaring that Graham had full knowledge of every purchase and sale made in his name.

FBI headquarters here declined to comment on Graham's or any other individual brokerage account, but acknowledged that since last November it has been conducting a general investigation of the effect of grain speculation on the retail price of grain products.

The inquiry was undertaken at the request of Asst. Atty. Gen. John F. Sonnett, in charge of anti-trust proceedings. He, in turn, had acted after Atty. Gen. Tom Clark announced that President Truman had asked him to investigate grain speculations.

Meanwhile another list of government employees reported to have traded in commodities was given to the investigating Senators.

The list named 17 Department of Commerce workers.

Did Not Violate Lea Act, Petrillo Defense Claims

CHICAGO, Jan. 2—(AP)—James C. Petrillo's lawyer argued Friday that Petrillo did not violate the Lea Act, passed to trim his powers, because a radio station was able to operate after the AFL Musicians' leader had withdrawn three members from its staff.

Daniel Carmell, attorney for Petrillo's American Federation of Musicians, took this position in closing arguments of a Federal Court trial of Petrillo on a criminal charge of violating the Lea Act.

The Government, however, declared through U. S. Dist., Atty. Otto Kerner, Jr., that there was a violation because, Kerner said, the law forbids coercion regardless of the effect.

The charge is predicated upon a dispute with Station WAAF, Chicago. In May, 1946, Petrillo pulled out three studio librarians when the station rejected his demand for the employment of three additional workers. The station maintained the three extras were not needed.

Kerner argued that continued operation of the station did not absolve Petrillo of the Government's charge that the Lea Act, forbidding coercion to cause hiring of unnecessary help had been violated.

Carmell said the workers were withdrawn because a satisfactory contract could not be reached. To compel the men to stay at work, he said, would have constituted involuntary servitude in violation of the workers' constitutional rights.

The trial is being heard without a jury by Judge Walter J. LaBuy who is expected to take the question under advisement before ruling.

"The burden is on the Government," Carmell asserted, "to show that the absence of these men had an effect on the station. Testimony shows the withdrawal of these Union members had no effect since the station has continued to operate.

"No act has been committed which would bring the provisions of the Lea Act into play."

Carmell said the station never indicated to Petrillo that the Lea Act was being violated because it never stated to him that the extra men were not needed.

Kerner's closing statement was a summation of testimony and a brief argument that the Government proved its charge against the Federation President.

52 High Later Today; Rain Sunday, Forecast

Partly cloudy and warmer weather today will be replaced late Sunday with rain, the Weather Bureau warned.

After sinking to 28 degrees early this morning, the thermometer is expected to rise to 52 degrees later in the day. A temperature range from 36 to 58 degrees is seen for Sunday.

The mercury Friday refused to budge higher than 39 degrees after dropping to 32 during early morning hours.

Tornado Area Digs Out as Help Pours In

SHEVREPORT, La., Jan. 2—(AP)—The tornado-stricken area of Northwest Louisiana is digging out from under the debris, as supplies and help pour in from all directions.

Elmer C. Bryant, Southeastern Area Disaster Director for the Red Cross, arrived in Cotton Valley Friday to assume charge of relief and rehabilitation work. The Red Cross has appropriated $100,000 for the work, with more available if necessary for a five-state area.

Meanwhile, in Washington, the Reconstruction Finance Corporation classified the Louisiana tornado as a disaster, making disaster relief loans available to victims of the storm. George Robertson, New Orleans manager for the loan agency, said he would send a representative for a survey.

The death total for the five-state area devastated by the New Year's Eve windstorm still stands at 21, with 250 injured and an unofficial estimate of more than $1,500,000 in property damage in Cotton Valley and Haynesville, La. Twelve of the deaths were in Cotton Valley.

21 Crewmen Saved From Grounded Ship

OCRACOKE, N. C., Jan. 2—(AP)—Coast Guardsmen of the Ocracoke Station completed a speedy rescue of 21 crew members of the 160-ton fishing steamer, Charlie Mason, in mid-morning Friday, less than three hours after the craft had been driven ashore on Ocracoke, a sandy island off the outer North Carolina banks by a 40-mile southwest wnid.

There was one casualty. Payton Young, a 35-year-old Baltimore, Md., Negro, died of a heart attack after being brought ashore with 10 companions who had leaped into the water when the fishing boat piled up on the sand about two miles east of Ocracoke Inlet.

The Coast Guard rescued these men from the water, after which the 11 others aboard were removed by breeches buoy. None of the survivors required hospitaliztaion.

1st Unfair-Labor-Practice Decisions Issued on Unions Under Taft Law

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Two precedent-making decisions were issued against unions under the Taft-Hartley labor law Friday as new strikes broke out against four overseas communications firms and against a Texas oil refinery.

In one of the Taft-Hartley decisions, issued in Washington, an examiner of the National Labor Relations Board, J. J. Fitzpatrick, ruled for the first time that a union had engaged in an unfair labor practice.

Such charges against unions were barred under the Wagner Act, which permitted them only against employers.

In the other Taft-Hartley case, Federal District Judge Stephen W. Brennan at Utica, N. Y., issued an injunction prohibiting the AFL Teamsters Local 294 from engaging in six acts of alleged unfair labor practices.

The overseas communications strike involved a walkout of 3,500 workers employed by four firms handling transmissions between the U. S. and abroad.

Two unions, the CIO American Communications Association and the All-America Cables Employees Association, an independent union, were involved in the strike, demanding a 30 percent pay boost.

Approximately 1,400 workers, members of the CIO Oil Workers Union, walked out at the Pan-American Refining Corporation Plant at Texas City, Texas, demanding a 20-cent pay increase.

The Union held by NLRB Examiner Fitzpatrick to have been engaging in an unfair labor practice was Local 74 of the AFL Carpenters' Union at Chattanooga, Tenn. He ruled the local had committed a secondary boycott.

Judge Brennan's injunction decision restrains the Teamsters' Local, among other things, from insisting that the Conway Express Company pay to the Union the equivalent of the wages for a Union driver, as penalty for a trip handled by a non-union driver.

In this respect, the Court invoked the Taft-Hartley law ban against forcing an employer to pay for work not performed, or so-called "feather-bedding." The Court injunction is to stand until the NLRB can decide if the Teamsters' Local is, in fact, guilty.

In Washington, a three-man panel in a Western Union Telegraph Company wage dispute decided to begin hearings Jan. 6.

The National Labor Relations Board in New York meanwhile issued a complaint against the International Typographical Union and subordinate locals in New York, Chicago, Detroit and Pittsburgh, charging violation of the National Labor Relations Act.

The NLRB scheduled a hearing for Feb. 5 at its offices in the metropolis, where the complaint, based on charges by five Employer Associations of Printers, was issued by John J. Carmody, Acting Regional Director of the NLRB.

Sunpapers Set Hike On 'Carrier' Rates

BALTIMORE, Jan. 2—(AP)—The Baltimore Sunpapers will increase carrier-delivery service rates by five cents a week effective Jan. 5.

An announcement of the Sun explains "large and continuing increases in the costs of operation" make the higher prices necessary.

The street-sale price of five cents for each of the daily papers and 15 cents for the Sunday Sun will not be changed.

Grand Jury Praises 'Slum' Plan, Employment of Negro Policemen

In presentments to Judge Virlyn Moore Friday, the Fulton County Grand Jury indorsed Atlanta officials' efforts toward slum clearance, the employment of Negro police to patrol Negro sections, and criticized what it termed as evidence of a lack of co-operation between law-enforcement agencies.

Regarding slum clearance, the presentments said:

"It is the feeling of this Grand Jury that the effort in behalf of slum clearance and housing improvement now being conducted by the City of Atlanta warrants the earnest support of our citizens, as certainly much crime is born of poor and crowded living quarters."

About Negro police, they had this to say:

"This Grand Jury wishes to express approval of and offer support to the newly adopted policy of the City to employ and carefully train Negro policemen to patrol the Negro areas of the City. It is our feeling that this is a step forward in law enforcement among the Negro race and shall result in more respect for the laws of our City and State."

Quoting FBI figures showing that crime had increased in Fulton County at a rate higher than the national average, the jury said it was alarmed by evidence of lack of co-operation between agencies charged with law enforcement.

"A most flagrant example," said the presentments, "is the case of Wilson Smith who admitted serious and continued violations of the automobile theft act but was given a minor penalty by our Superior Court."

Smith recently pleaded guilty of auto theft before Judge Clifford Pratt, of the Piedmont Circuit, who was sitting in Fulton Superior Court, and was let off with the payment of some $10,000 in fines and in making restitution to the owners of the stolen cars. Judge Pratt, in passing sentence, said Smith was a sick man, and prominent DeKalb County residents had requested leniency.

"We recommend," the presentments continued, "that the Fulton County delegation prepare the necessary legislation to make it a felonious offense for any person to attempt to influence a judge's decision as to the sentence of a criminal except in the regular trial procedure."

The jury also:

Recommended including a psychopathic ward in the new Grady Hospital.

Recommended repeal of the law which forbids examination on the witness stand of persons accused of crime.

Deplored lack of co-ordination between County courts in dealing with drunken drivers.

Praised Sol. Gen. Paul Webb and his Crime Prevention Committee.

Congratulated the County Commission on inaugurating the County Manager form of government.

Praised the newspapers for uncovering and informing our people of some of the practices covered in these presentments.

Criticized Sheriff Foster for his reported statement that Horace White, CIO organizer, was serving his sentence at Fulton Tower instead of in a public works camp because "he controls a large number of votes."

Requested the Grand Jury Commission, in revising the Grand Jury list, "to obtain a more equal representation of the various divisions of Fulton County by adding the most names from those divisions which are most deficient" and "to refrain from revising or otherwise molesting the Grand Jury box except as prescribed by law.

Freedom Train Visitors Undaunted by Weather

By MARJORY SMITH

"I don't know whether it's patriotism or just because I'm so cold—but I'm all over chillbumps!"

That reaction of an Atlanta bobby-soxer to her trip through the Freedom Train brought sympathetic chuckles Friday from the patient queue of red-nosed Georgians waiting for their glimpse of the yellowed documents symbolizing their heritage.

And the matron who stepped out with tears rimming her eyeglasses tried to explain them away:

"It's mostly a cold in the head; maybe Washington's letter helped a little."

But, whatever the reason, Atlantans and their neighbors—who the day before were undeterred by rain and New Year's Day headaches—stood for three hours in ear-muff and fascinator weather to see Thomas Jefferson's personal copy of the Declaration of Independence and to sign their own "Freedom Pledge." It was the second and last day of the train's visit.

The line stretched from the door of the Freedom Train in Union Station up the Spring Street viaduct to Marietta and to Fairlie.

"I started down in that alley. I had three cones of cotton candy—one each hour—before I got in," Tommy Lowndes, 12, of Decatur, reported. He thought it was "worth it" and liked best the manuscript of "The Star-Spangled Banner" scrawled on the back of an envelope.

Youngsters, wearing "freedom badges" and waving blue "freedom flags," dotted the lines of waiting Americans—who included nuns and bookkeepers, Army corporals and housewives, Negro janitors and ministers.

Roy McCrary, 14, and Mickey Hallum, 12, represented their East Point Boy Scout Troop. Carolyn Pitner and Alice Coleman were set to tell their ninth-grade class at Hoke Smith what they had seen. Wilma Shellnutt, 15, came from Marietta. Barbara Ann Jarrell and 30-odd other big-eyed kids boarded a special bus in the wee hours Friday to get to Atlanta and see the train.

"We get extra points in school for seeing it," they admitted. "But we also came just for ourselves."

Talmadge Favors Union Of School Bus Drivers

A move by school bus drivers to obtain pay raises brought the following developments Friday:

1. Herman Talmadge, regarded as a gubernatorial candidate, came out in favor of a State-wide union for school bus drivers to press for the pay raise. He charged Acting Gov. Thompson had failed to fulfill promises of higher pay for the drivers and said he favored an effective organization of the drivers to further their aims of better working conditions.

2. State school officials told drivers that Acting Gov. Thompson had made $1,300,000 in additional funds available that could be used for their salaries, and pledged to fight for pay raises for the drivers before the "Legislature and others." The "and others" apparently meant the State Budget Commissions.

Whether the new money made available by Thompson some time ago for "administrative purposes" to County boards of education is used for bus drivers' salaries is a matter entirely in the hands of the County boards of education, Asisstant State School Supt. J. I. Allman said in letters to school bus drivers. He said Thompson wanted the drivers to get pay raises out of this new money, but he, Allman, knew that the county boards are hard-pressed for funds to carry on their entire school program.

Allman said Thompson made available $1,300,000 in additional "administrative funds" after the 1947 Legislature had failed to pass a bill appropriating $950,000 to pay school bus drivers. Since the Legislative bill failed, there is no legal provision for the State to direct that funds be spent specifically for bus drivers, as it does in the case of teachers, Allman said.

Both Allman and State School Supt. M. D. Collins said bus drivers need additional help. They said they would keep this fact constantly before "legislatures and others until such time as they see fit to make the necesary funds available."

Talmadge Denies Headquarters, Or Drive Opening

Reports that friends of Herman Talmadge would open Sixth District campaign headquarters at Milledgeville for his candidacy for Governor failed to materialize Friday. Talmadge said he was not opening any headquarters nor any campaign at this time.

However, many supporters from over the district flocked to the Baldwin Hotel at Milledgeville to meet Talmadge prior to his talk to the Disabled American Veterans.

Meanwhile, State campaign headquarters for Acting Gov. Thompson were being opened at the Ansley Hotel in Atlanta. Headquarters space was reserved, but L. C. Groves, who is to be in charge of the office, was ill at his home in Lincolnton.

Crash Conductor 'Thought' Train Going Too Fast

SEDALIA, Mo., Jan. 2 — (AP) — The conductor of a Missouri Pacific passenger train involved in a wreck which took 14 lives near Otterville, Mo., said Friday he thought "we were going too fast" and had started to pull the rope just before the crash occurred.

Interviewed in a hospital here, J. B. Rogers, the conductor, also told a reporter for the Sedalia Democrat-Capital that block signals were not functioning properly because of the icy weather.

POLITICAL FIELD

Aid Cheaper Than War, Barkley Says

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2—(AP)—Sen. Barkley, of Kentucky, Senate Democratic leader, declared Friday night the Marshall Plan will be "infinitely cheaper in dollars to the American people than another war which might see the destruction of civilization itself."

Barkley's remarks, from Paris, were made in a half-hour Democratic party radio program to rally support behind the Marshall Plan and the Administration's proposals to halt rising prices.

"America's vital interests are deeply concerned with this whole (European relief) project," Barkley said. "We cannot afford merely to nibble at the bite. We must sink our teeth into it, however unpleasant the taste.

"The Marshall Plan contemplates a four-year program of aid and recovery. It makes it possible to work out arrangements in advance with a view to the formation of a well-considered and well-rounded approach to the problem. A shorter commitment would make this impossible and would involve the risk of making what we do totally futile and ineffective."

National and local spokesmen of the Democratic party were on the broadcast from Paris to Los Angeles. Private citizens described in the advance script as "typical" told how they are affected by problems facing Congress.

Sen. McGrath, of Rhode Island, Democratic National Chairman, led off the program from Los Angeles. Asserting there is "grave danger" that a lasting peace "may not be possible in our time," he said:

"We in the United States—members of both political parties—have kindled a new flame of hope in the freedom-loving nations overseas through . . . the Marshall Plan, a program of European economic recovery."

Storied Kline Building Sold For $750,000

Real estate in Atlanta got off to a brisk 1948 start Friday with the sale of the Kline Department Store building, 89-91 Whitehall St., S. W., for $750,000.

One of Atlanta's downtown landmarks—for years it was the home of the old Davison-Paxon-Stokes Company—the building was purchased by Helen Eisenstein, of New York, from the R. A. C. Realty Company, a Ben J. Massell enterprise.

The transaction was handled jointly by Ward Wight, President of Ward Wight & Company, and Charles Moore, realty dealer of New York City.

The new owner said that present tenants have a long-term lease and there will be no change in occupancy.

The transaction involves two properties embracing 80,000 square feet of space. The Kline store is the major property, fronting 48 feet on Whitehall and about 99 feet on Broad Street, S. W. The building is one of seven stories.

The other property is an adjoining three-story building fronting 25 feet on Whitehall. Both buildings are occupied by Kline Department Store.

two little daughters. Mrs. C. L. Straughan, of Decatur, bundled up her baby and the neighbor's children "because, even though they may not take it in today, someday they'll be glad they saw it!"

Black-garbed nuns from the Sacred Heart School in Griffin came out with serene faces. Jack Pulliam, of 340 Josephine St., N. E., was "mighty glad I took time off from work today to see it."

One woman fainted, then got back into line.

A Negro mother lost her baby somewhere in the shuffle—but was reunited with it in the Georgia Heritage Train. Despite such minor mishaps, the crowd was patinet and good-humored. Two Fort Mac MPs, Cpl. Charles J. Budenick and Sgt. James Z. Farmer, jovially took the starch out of any "big-shots" who thought they could push ahead in line.

Atlanta policemen, recruited from outlying city beats as outer guards, pronounced the crowds "mighty well behaved," and phil osphical Mrs. Ballard Irwin, of 36 Standard Ave., N. W., declared firmly:

"I think it's entirely fitting that we didn't have an easy time getting into the Freedom Train. Somehow, it wouldn't have seemed right to just stroll in to see something that took so long to grow into our America!"

DEADLY WIRE

Motorist Keeps Cool; Avoids Hurt

A motorist's presence of mind Friday night was credited with saving him from possible electrocution when the trolley wire from a stalled street car fell across his automobile.

While electrical flashes shot around the Hunter and Central Avenue area, the unidentified man calmly remained in his automobile and warned spectators to "stand back." Patrolmen K. A. Wooster and C. E. McWhorter said he drove away, apparently unscathed, after rubber-clothed emergency linemen moved the trolley wire. The rubber tires on the automobile had prevented the electrical charge from entering the car.

Two passengers on the street car were treated at Grady Hospital after the trolley wire short-circuited and produced an electrical flash. They were listed as James M. Goodman, 53, of 2278 Ridgedale Rd., face burn, and Katie Brown, Negro, who lives in the rear of 19 Anniston Ave., N. E. She said that she was shocked by the electrical flash.

A shop repairman was working on the stalled trolley when the short-circuit occurred and the wire fell.

Burma, British Ties To Be Cut Sunday

RANGOON, Burma, Jan. 2—(AP) Burma cuts her 60-year-old ties with the British Empire Sunday to become a sovereign independent nation.

Rangoon's 250,000 people are preparing for four days of celebration. The city's buildings, from the modern concrete structures to the squalid mat huts, are decked out with gaudy oriental trappings. Thousands of colored lanterns are hung out and floodlights in red, green and blue hues are played nightly on the government buildings.

The British Cruiser Birmingham will leave at 8:30 a. m. Sunday with Sir Hubert Rance, Burma's last British Governor. The ship also will carry the Union Jack which now flutters over the Constituent Assembly Building. The flag will be placed in a London museum.

2 Fliers Fatally Burned In Tennessee Crash

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Jan. 2 (AP)—Two unidentified men were burned to death in an airplane crash near Chattanooga Friday night, said Signal Mountain Police Chief Charles Brown.

The plane, said to be a Coast Guard J4F2 en route from Memphis to Chattanooga, crashed at 8:05 p. m., according to Bill Vandergriff, eyewitness.

He said he rushed to the plane but couldn't "save the two occupants because of the fierce heat." He said the bodies were charred.

SANTA 'DIVORCES' FRENCH WOMAN

PARIS, Jan. 2—(UP)—A Normandy woman was granted a divorce after she told the court that her 39-year-old husband "still believed in Santa Claus," the newspaper France Soir reported Friday.

The wife, identified only as Madame S.," said her husband believed in Santa Claus "just as other men believe in God," the newspaper said.

Mme. S., who ascribed her husband's beliefs to a sheltered childhood, said she soon became disgusted and took a lover who did not believe in Santa Claus.

PAGEANT AND CANTATAS

3 Atlanta Protestant Churches To Mark 100th Birthdays Sunday

Three great Atlanta Protestant churches — First Methodist, First Baptist and First Presbyterian—will celebrate their 100th birthdays Sunday.

Ministers who have spurred the growth of these congregations during the past 20 years will return to speak on highlights in church history. Pageants and cantatas will depict the progress of the city and church, and a new Activities building will be dedicated in this 100th year by the First Methodist Church.

Each church will have an individual centennial celebration Sunday. And all three will join Wednesday in a prayer service, commemorating the close fraternity which has existed for these 10 decades.

Dr. Charles A. Sheldon, Minister of Music of First Presbyterian, has composed a cantata, based on the scriptures, the catechism and ancient hymns and an original chorus. This cantata will be sung by the Senior and Youth Choirs as a highlight of services at this church at 8 p. m. Wednesday.

Both services at First Baptist Sunday will feature talks by men who have attained great stature in religious fields. Dr. Ellis A. Fuller, former First Baptist pastor and now President of the Southern Theological Seminary, Louisville, Ky., will speak at 11 a. m. and Dr. C. Oscar Johnson, President of the Baptist World Alliance, will talk at 8 p. m.

The Rev. W. T. Thompson, President of Union Theological Seminary, Richmond, Va., will speak at 11 a. m. at the First Presbyterian Church, when a new East Window, honoring Mrs. Emily Einglish Robinson is unveiled. This window completes the series of stained glass windows. It was given by Mrs. Robinson's husband, James D. Robinson, Sr. Three grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Robinson, Frances Crawford Robinson, Harry English Robinson, Jr., and Earle English Thornwell will take part in the unveiling ceremonies.

Dr. Walter L. Lingle, former pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, and now President Emeritus of Davidson College, will speak during vesper services at 5:30 p. m. Dr Lingle was pastor of this church from 1907-11.

CENTENNIAL SPEAKER Dr. Ellis A. Fuller, President of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, Louisville, Ky., and former Pastor of the First Baptist Church, will speak at that church at 11 a. m. Sunday on the occasion of the church's 100th anniversary.

$370,000 Expansion

The First Methodist Church is now constructing a $370,000 activities building which is expected to be completed in October. This new building will provide new classrooms for Sunday School departments and a large meeting hall and new kitchens. It will be fire resistant.

Four New Choirs

Jack B. Jones, Minister of Music of the Baptist Tabernacle, will organize four new choirs during next week. Rehearsals have been called at 4:45 p. m. Sunday for the Young People's Choir Wednesday at 6:45 p. m. for the Intermediate choir and Saturday at 10:30 a. m. for the Junior and Primary Choir. The Adult Choir rehearsals were conducted Friday.

New Baptist Pastor

The Rev. Robert L. O'Brien, Pastor of the First Baptist Church, Claxton, has accepted the pastorate of the Capitol Avenue Baptist Church. He will deliver his first sermon Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. O'Brien and their sons, Paul Kennard and Robert Lee, Jr., will reside at the pastorium, 347 Atlanta Ave.

Bible Study Week

Church-wide Bible Study Week will be observed at the Edgewood Baptist Church beginning Monday and continuing through Friday, with services at 7:30 p. m. each day. The Rev. J. G. Burgess, Pastor, will conduct the study of the book of Ephesians.

Exchange Greetings

Dr. Louie D. Newton, Pastor of the Druid Hills Baptist Church, exchanged Christmas greetings via cable with Baptists in Russia, he revealed Saturday.

He received a message from Jacob Zhidkov, President of the All Union Council Evangelical Christian Baptists in Russia which said "All Union Council Baptists in Russia heartily thank you for gracious greetings of Southern Baptists on Our Savior's Birthday. Also for prayers for Russian brothers and whole Russian people and send to Southern Baptists mutual cordial Christmas and New Year's greetings. May God give in New Year greatest friendship between our peoples and close collaboration of our countries."

The Police Blotter

WHAT PRICE NEWS — One copy of a newspaper Friday cost R. B. Taylor, 155 Laura St., S. W., a $700 investment—then he obtained only pieces of the paper. Taylor told police that during conversation with three men in the Jefferson Hotel Coffee Shop one of the trio bet $300 that Taylor could not immediately withdrew $700 from the bank. Accepting the bet, Taylor dashed to the bank and returned to the hotel with the $700. He turned the money over to one of the trio who had a $300 deposit from the man who bet with Taylor. The holder of the $1,000 wrapped the entire amount up in a handerchief for Taylor to keep until his "buddy" could return from another part of the hotel. When the latter arrived, he laughingly admitted that he lost the bet and walked away with his companions. Taylor unwrapper the handkerchief, which had been stuffed into his shirt pocket, and found it contained only newspaper fragments that had been cut the size of dollar bills.

SLOT MACHINE HAUL—Burglars Thursday night smashed the front window of American Legion Post No. 147, 542 Ashby St., S. W., police said, and hauled away three slot machines valued at $1,500. Post officials said the machines contained about $500 in nickels, dimes and quarters.

TROUSERS GONE—Irvin Horowitz, wholesaler at 136½ Mitchell St., S. W., told police he had missed several pairs of trousers from his stock recently. He placed his loss at 32 pairs, valued at $240.

ROBBER FOILED—One black eye Thursday night was the toll paid by Christy L. Abbott, 148 Baker St., N. E., to save his watch and wallet. Abbott told police he received the shiner near his residence while beating off a Negro robber.

WEATHER TRENDS—Two fur coat burglaries were reported Friday after the weather emphasized the need for such apparel. Ellis L. Cone, 428 Parkway Dr., N. E., told police that a fur coat valued at $1,000 was stolen Friday afternoon from his parked automobile on Spring Street. The thief smashed a car window to break into the vehicle . . . Mrs. Irene Wallace said that several days ago she left a Persian Lamb coat in the closet of her room at the Robert Fulton Hotel. When she again needed the $700 coat Friday, she said, it was missing.

1948 Quotas On Peanuts Declared Off

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2—(AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Anderson announced Friday there will be no marketing quotas on the 1948 crop of peanuts. He said he was suspending the quotas because of the world shortage of foods, fats and oils.

The action means farmers are free to plant and market without penalty all the peanuts they want to.

Under marketing quotas, production in 1948 would have been limited to approximately 2,359,000 acres, compared with about 3,378,000 acres harvested for nuts in 1947.

Farm laws allow quotas to be put into effect when farmers vote for them. Each farmer is then limited as to the amount of peanuts he can market. The purpose is to avoid a surplus.

Early in December Anderson said quotas and allotments for the 1948 crop probably would be suspended, but ordered a referendum. Peanut producers voted for quotas for the next three years. This still leaves quota machinery available for 1949 and 1950 should conditions make it advisable to impose quotas for those years.

Huge Cross Burned At Milledgeville

Constitution State News Service.

MILLEDGEVILLE, Jan. 2—A group of persons dressed in white robes burned a huge cross near a "juke club" on the Eatonton road Thursday night.

During the Christmas season, white robed and masked figures visited homes of a few white families in this section, distributed food to some and warnings to men to support their families better, it was said.

In Atlanta, Dr. Samuel Green, who was head of the Ku Klux Klan organization which lost its State charter, said he knew nothing of these activities around Milledgeville.

For a Non-Political Road Program

Throughout Georgia, interest is being evidenced in the various plans to remove politics from the State Highway Department.

Leading newspapers in virtually every section of the State are co-operating with The Constitution's effort to encourage discussion and debate on the subject so as to bring about an intelligent disposition of the issue in the forthcoming gubernatorial campaign.

Not everyone, of course, agrees with us that the Department should be removed entirely from the direction of the Governor's office. The Moultrie Observer, for instance, seems to be of the opinion that turning appointment of the Highway Board over to the Legislature would accomplish nothing.

"The Atlanta Constitution has been encouraging interviews from those who talk idealistically about taking politics out of road building," declares The Observer. "What are we going to do to make the Highway Department an instrument of the people of Georgia, operated entirely free from political influence? Gov. Thompson has a plan. He would have a Highway Board with a representative from every Congressional District in Georgia. The Legislature would be given the power to fill vacancies on the Board and this, of course, would bring the Legislature to an influential position in spending the highway money in the State. We do not know a group in the State that would get more pleasure out of influencing the highway contracts and spending than the Legislature. As far as we are concerned we shall not consider that the State is fully protected from political influence in road building while the lawmakers are taking a hand. Max L. McRae, who has had some experience with the work of the Highway Department, is suggesting that we have a Board of three, one from North Georgia, one from Middle Georgia and one from South Georgia. If we remember correctly, we have traveled that road. His idea is to make all three men full-time workers and the Board would be practically in session continuously. Whether the Board is large or whether it is small, politics is going to creep in. We are not sure that the people of the State want their Highway Department and road building removed entirely from politics. A lot of communities and a lot of influential road builders have been helped through the hand of politics in getting things done finally by the Highway Department."

While we share The Observer's fear that legislative domination of the Highway Department would make for an even greater political influence than at present, we most certainly do not agree that the people of Georgia, by and large, don't care to see the road-building program removed from politics.

The vast majority do want to see roads built where they will serve the best interest of the entire State. And we are convinced that continuing discussions of the problem eventually will result in the evolution of a practical plan to make this possible.

Simplify Tax Returns

Evidence continues to mount that a tax reduction will be one of the major issues confronting Congress when it reassembles on Jan. 6.

The Constitution consistently has favored tax reduction, always reserving the right to oppose any specific proposals which, in our opinion, might work to the detriment of essential Governmental services or serve to impair our foreign policy.

Our position on the Community Property Law has been made clear on numerous occasions. We believe it grossly unfair for residents of 13 States to benefit from their own State laws which provide that a husband and wife may split their incomes, while taxpayers in the 35 remaining States are in effect penalized by failure of their respective Legislatures to act. Federal taxes should be levied equitably, without favor to any specific population group.

There is every indication Congress will include the Community Property Law in the tax reduction bill, along with slashes in the rates of payment.

But while it is easy to see that there are more votes to be had from reducing personal income taxes, we commend to Congress' attention a suggestion that taxes for small business be reduced and simplified.

For small business, and we speak here of the kind owned and operated by the individual with perhaps the help of his wife and one or two employees, is this country's surest protection against monopoly. Monopoly, by its very nature, leads to excessive Government regulation, and, finally, to Socialism. We have no argument against big business. The last war demonstrated how necessary big business is to our national survival. But at the same time we must also remember that it required 5,000 concerns, many of them small, to produce the necessary parts for the B-29 which played so great a part in winning the war.

Present high taxes and the innumerable regulations binding business operations are infinitely greater obstacles to the small business man than to big, established concerns. The large firms can hire lawyers to spell out regulations and tax requirements, and auditors and accountants and fiscal experts to see that they are carried out. Not so with the small owner. He must do it all himself, for his volume and his profit margin are insufficient to afford the luxury of professional advice at every turn.

Small business is enjoying a marked revival during the current boom. But already the number of failures is greater than there is reason to be. And when the current boom collapses, as it surely will, this number may well run to proportions that will rock our economy. Congress could do much to head off such a potential catastrophe by proper attention to a revamped, simplified tax structure for firms in the small business bracket.

Defense of the Wedding

Editor Constitution: I have just read in The Sunday Constitution of Nov. 30 a letter by a Mrs. M. O. Lynn, Jr., in which she attacks Princess Elizabeth's wedding as a foolish waste of food. She is particularly annoyed by the five-hundred-pound cake. She says, "I suppose that's why we've been having eggless Thursdays."

As an Atlantan living in London, I was rather horrified that anyone living in my native land of plenty would criticize the wedding. It is impossible for anyone not in Britain to realize the dull monotony of austerity living. Since 1939 the people of Britain have been living a colorless Spartan existence—a life in which practically all luxuries and many necessities have been denied them. Adding to this the intense adoration felt by her people for the Princess, Mrs. Lynn may be able to see how everyone in Britain felt that one day out of over 3,000 must be a little "special" and that Elizabeth must be given as fine a wedding as possible.

It was wonderful to me to feel the surge of pride in the people's voices when they spoke of THEIR wedding. For in a sense, each person felt that the occasion was his to share. There was a vitality and a hope in the future expressed that day that was unique and thrilling. As one woman, a pub barmaid, said: "I just looked at 'er 'ighness and 'er 'andson prince and I said to meself, 'Things aren't so bloody awful after all'."

About those eggs that so worried Mrs. Lynn, all provisions for the wedding come from the King's farms. Even so, everyone in Britain, including myself, would have eagerly given up our one egg a week to give Elizabeth a cake.

Also, Mrs. Lynn might be interested to know that the thousands of food parcels sent to Her Highness were distributed among the poor and others sent to Europe.

By now, Mrs. Lynn has eaten her Christmas dinner of turkey or maybe steak, but people here have had to be content with their weekly ration of 20 cents worth of meat. But even with Christmas here little more than another drab day, any Briton can say, "Well the Princess had a lovely wedding, God bless her."

Advice for Vet

Editor Constitution: In reply to veteran's letter from Macon, Ga., who seems to be very downcast by his inability to work and provide for his family, resulting in domestic troubles which he says has got him down!

From your statement you feel as though you have been forsaken but not so. Just remember if you have the desire in your heart to do so you can go to God who is able and has promised if you will come to Him He will comfort you, only ask believing and it will be given you. And in a short while you will feel that life is worth while. Chin up, you may be down but not out.

The Poets Had a Word

Editor Constitution: I did like your Christmas Day column and I see by the paper where plenty of other people did too.

Permit me to quote some lines from Elizabeth Barrett Browning:

"It takes a soul
To move a body: it takes a high-souled man
To move the masses even to a cleaner sty:
It takes the ideal to blow a hair's breadth off
The dust of the actual—"

And:

"It is the hour for souls,
That bodies, leavened by the will and love,
Be lightened to redemption, world's old;
But the old world waits to be renewed;
Toward which new hearts in individual growth
Must quicken, and increase to multitude
In new dynasties of the race of men,
Developed whence shall grow spontaneously
New churches, new economics, new laws
Admitting freedom, new societies
Excluding falsehood: He shall make all new."

Mr. Robert Browning had a word for it too:

"Ah, but a man's reach should exceed his grasp,
Or what's a heaven for?"

'Pop' Smith And Liberalism

The other night I went down to Macon to participate in the honor award to Pop Smith, Editor of the Macon News. The young people of the Good Government League down there had properly determined that Pop Smith had done more for them than anyone else, and also that he stood for honesty and forthrightness, and so they gave him a dinner and a cup.

Also, various young ladies kissed him and I was able to put an appraising eye on Pop and to note that while he is too old for such pleasantries, he must have been very adept in his youth, as his technique was good—very good.

There was a large turnout, which was deserving, and I was able to note in the crowd a number of persons who must turn a turkey-neck red when they read some of Pop's pieces for the paper. In fact, there were some there who must come close to apoplexy when they run their eyes down Pop's pieces, but there they were.

Honesty It made me feel good to see the crowd and to see Pop and to know that his town appreciates his forthrightness, even if some of them thought his pieces were poison. This is the only country where that sort of thing can happen in this best of all possible worlds, bad as it is. And it is well for the ultra-conservative, or reactionary, to keep in mind that if they should go ahead and create a Hitler of their own, as the ultra-conservatives did in Germany, that it is people like Pop who will be beating the secret police off them as long as he himself is free from them.

One of Pop's good friends said of Pop that he was not a liberal, but a progressive. I disputed this, kindly, because I think Pop is a liberal. The word is, I will admit, in disrepute right now, just as is democracy. I counted the times Comrade Molotov used the word "democracy" in his last speech and he used it 14 times. So, I made up my mind to ration my use of the word in the future.

Liberals The same thing has happened to the good, honest word "liberal." The trouble is that the Communists, and other radical groups, who do not allow any liberalism in their own countries, or in their ideologies, but who rule their people by fear and secret police, have taken the word and violated it and its meaning.

It has become almost an epithet in the "when you call me that, smile," manner, but it is a good word and there is no reason why persons who are liberals, in the true meaning of the word, should seek to avoid it. Pop is a liberal.

Pop is up in the big numbers in age, but he remains so young in spirit that he is almost naive, at times, and there is no cynicism in him. He is a lot younger than some of the others of us, who love him and appreciate him, but who have picked up some cynicism and age along the way. But Pop hasn't. When that young lady kissed him he had all the technique of sweet 16, and if it hadn't been for the wrinkles and the gray hair, he would have looked like a high school sophomore and a bobby-soxer in a clutch. Good old Pop. Long may he wave.

18-Year-Olds If there is one thing of which I am proud in politics, it is that I fought as hard as I could for the 18-year-old vote. A lot of people younger than that were off fighting for their country, and while I know that is not the chief argument, it is folly to say we can make a man fight for his country and still not allow him to vote in it.

Also, it seemed to me that the opposition to the young voters condemned themselves. They were like death condemning life. They said that the young voters were dangerous because they were too idealistic. Well, my answer was, and is, that the unsavory dough of politics can certainly stand a little yeast of idealism.

I never will forget getting a call from one of the legislators during that session. He asked me to come to his room in a hotel. I went. When I got there I found him on the fifth day of a drunk. He hadn't shaved and he looked like a dirty hog. His room smelled something like a sty. He set out to berate me for supporting the 18-year-old vote and said: "They ain't got sense enough to vote and you know it."

I walked out and I have thought of him ever since when I saw the young voters. I only wish they'd organize and really turn out at the polls.

Anyhow, I thought it was fine for Macon's young voters to honor Pop. He deserves it. He is a young voter himself.

Some Local Classics In Show Reviewing

Not many years after the turn of the century, in the days when movies had not left the category of the penny arcade and the legit. stage was very important entertainment, a musical show titled "The Blue Knight" came to play a week's engagement at a local theater.

The late Sidney Ormond, then theater critic for The Constitution, attended the opening performance on the Monday night. His criticism appeared in the Tuesday morning edition. It consisted of two brief sentences.

"'The Blue Knight' opened a week's engagement last night," wrote Sid. "It was."

"Cute" Emma There was a popular star of those days named Emma Bunting. She had been a child actress almost from babyhood. Had been known as a child as "Baby Bunting."

Emma was never a great actress, but she had a powerful appeal for a definite type of theatergoer, a numerous type, which gave her quite a local following.

After the closing of the stock company, Emma headed her own road show, traveling each season all around the country. She played a week each year in Atlanta.

One season she brought her company to the Atlanta Theater in a play which was a pretty sorry example of the playwrighting business. It had evidently been written to order for Emma, inasmuch as her role was that of a painfully "cute" girl and her chief activity was appearing in a series of costumes from pajamas or jodhpurs to flowing evening gowns. The women in the audience loved it.

But the critic thought it silly. He wrote a review cataloguing by time, like a railroad time table, Emma's appearance in one outfit after another. And dubbed each appearance "cuter and cuter."

His line at the second act curtain went something like this:

"Lovers quarrel. Why? Because it is customary to have a third act and Emma still has costumes unshown."

The theater manager, after reading that review the following morning, telephoned the critic and advised him to stay away from his office for the week.

"Emma," warned the manager, "left the theater five minutes ago looking for you. She has a gun in her bag."

Grand Intermission It was Sidney Ormond who, covering a vaudeville show which had practically nothing to recommend it, devoted half a column to praising the orchestra, made up of local musicians. Then, winding up his review, wrote:

"As for the performance, the intermission was immense."

Don't think, however, that old-time theater critics were more interested in thinking up how to coin wisecracks than in giving honest reviews of the shows they saw. They weren't. When, as per examples above, they were devasting in their condemnation, the show usually deserved it.

They erred more often in overpraising a mediocre show than in overdamning a poor one.

And a good show critic gained a nation-wide reputation, his comments read and quoted wherever there was a legit. theater, wherever road shows played. Which meant just about every city or town in the United States.

He Quit Too Soon

A boy named Joe was born in the midst of wretched poverty, surrounded by ignorance and dirt. He resolved to be somebody.

He never forgot his resolve. He studied. He worked his way through college. He overcame all temptations.

Many misfortunes befell him. An accident crippled him for life. The girl he loved jilted him. He made a fortune and lost it. Yet nothing could discourage him.

He was 40 years old, Governor of his State, and one of the most honored men in the nation, when he discovered that his young wife was unfaithful. Alone in the mansion at midnight, he entered his bedroom and shot himself. . . .

HE STOOD at the gate of the World Beyond. The old gatekeeper looked up from the record book on his desk and wiped away a tear.

"Poor boy," he said, "you have done a great wrong."

"I know suicide is wrong," said Joe.

"True," said the gatekeeper. "Thou shalt not kill. But your guilt is greater than you realize. By taking your life you doomed millions. Four years from now, in a time of great peril and testing, the fate of the nation and the world will depend upon the wisdom, unselfishness, foresight, strength and courage of the man who sits in the place of power. That place would have been yours, Joe."

"Do you mean I was destined to rule?"

"Yes, Joe; that is true in one sense. But the choice had to be yours.

"I have watched your course with joy since you were an infant. You always chose the right way.

"As men travel the highway of life, each comes frequently to a fork where he must turn left or right. He can't go back or stand still. Life forces him to go on.

"ONE WAY is hard and rough, but always leads to higher levels; one is smooth and easy, but leads down hill.

"Many take the easy way by choice; many go with the crowd; many drift that way. Others listen to the still small voice of conscience and choose the harder way that leads upward. You always chose the right way, Joe, and grew stronger with every step. Only this one last test of your strength remained, and you quit."

"But if you knew all of this," cried Joe, "why didn't you tell me?"

"It can't be done that way," said the gatekeeper. "A man must be free. There could be no virtue in doing right if he had no choice. It is the choosing that builds character. In choosing the right way he must conquer himself and overcome obstacles and grievous hurts, and it is the overcoming that builds strength. . . . For a little while you thought only of yourself, and your troubles, and weakness destroyed all you had built."

Being reviled, we bless; being persecuted, we suffer it: being defamed, we intreat.—I Corinthians 4:12, 13.

If we be inclined to discouragement concerning the plight of the world, let us give heed to these words of Roger Lloyd's: "Of all the ways in which the power and the grace of God are unloosed and made available for men and women in the world, the slowest but by far the most effective in the long run, is the normal work and life of the Church in worship, evangelism and witness." To the man of the world this seems too slow, too uncertain. His idea of change puts dependence in coercion of force. It is heartening to know that God's confidence is in the steady growth of contrasting lose.

Keep What Change?

Because of the let-up in demand for coins, the mint has laid off more than half its employees.

The reason is, of course, that with butter selling for an even dollar a pound, there is just no need for change.

Of the 29 billion dollars currently in circulation, only a little more than one billion is in coins. And at least half of that has probably slipped down between the cushions in the sofa in the living room.

Yessir, a nickel is worth so little these days, the buffalo is hanging his head in shame.

And pennies are of value only when a fuse blows out or in a poker game with strangers whom you don't trust with your matches.

In fact, once they perfect a juke box which will take folding money, Uncle Sam can convert the mint into something useful, like maybe making beer bottle caps.

GLADSTONE WILLIAMS

What Is Wallace's Motive?

WASHINGTON—There are two ways of looking at Henry A. Wallace. He is either an ingrate with a grudge or an overzealous visionary, depending on which point of view is accepted.

Even though the former Vice President is given credit for complete honesty of purpose in the third-party enterprise he has launched, it should be apparent to anyone familiar with his background of practical political experience that he has little or no hope of success.

From that standpoint, the very hopelessness of Mr. Wallace's cause stamps him as a rank visionary. In offering as a candidate for the Presidency on a third-party ticket, he is seeking the unattainable.

Perhaps no one knows this any better than Mr. Wallace himself. He has been too long tutored in the science of practical politics to have any illusions about the matter.

Challenge If his main objective had been to change the foreign policy of the United States, then he could have gone about this in a different way with equal effectiveness. The way was open for him to challenge President Truman for the Democratic nomination. He could have entered his name in the preferential primaries of the various States as a candidate for the Democratic nomination in opposition to Mr. Truman, thus giving the people an opportunity to express a choice between him and the President.

The chances are that if he had followed this course and had made any kind of a showing he would have exercised a far greater influence on American foreign policy than he will by the line he is now pursuing.

Grudge We must, therefore, look for other motives in seeking an answer to what Mr. Wallace is doing. The most apparent one that comes to mind is built on spite. He is out to settle an old grudge.

It is a dual grudge, in fact, one that has left him an embittered and frustrated man. Wallace can never think of Mr. Truman's presence in the White House without being reminded that but for the treachery of a few people he would not have been defeated for the Vice Presidential nomination in 1944 and hence he and not Mr. Truman would have fallen heir to the mantle dropped by Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The second part of the grudge concerns his ouster from the Cabinet after engaging in a controversy with former Secretary of State Byrnes over foreign policy. He must feel particularly embittered about that, since the speech he made leading up to the ouster was first approved by President Truman.

These must be the human motives back of the Wallace third-party enterprise. What he is doing is probably undertaken more with a view to wreaking vengeance on Mr. Truman than anything else. By launching a third-party ticket he hopes to take away enough Democratic votes to bring about the President's defeat.

Otherwise, it is reasonable to suppose that he would confine his opposition to a fight within the party.

Ingrate? The charge of being an ingrate rests on the score that all of the honors that have come to Mr. Wallace through holding public office have had their origin in the Democratic Party. It was the Democratic administration of President Roosevelt that first brought him into the Government as Secretary of Agriculture under the early New Deal regime.

Subsequently he was nominated and elected Vice President on the Democratic ticket. And then when he was defeated for renomination at the Chicago convention of 1944 he was again brought back into the Government as Secretary of Commerce under the fourth Roosevelt administration.

President Truman did not see fit to accept his resignation when he succeeded to the White House upon Mr. Roosevelt's death, although a number of other Cabinet changes were made at the time. Only when Mr. Wallace became involved in a spirited controversy over the Government's foreign policy did he consider it necessary to make a change.

Having accepted these honors at the hands of the Democratic party, Mr. Wallace cannot now pursue the course he is following without throwing himself open to the charge of being an ingrate.

Fringe Vote Under the circumstances, it will be surprising if he succeeds in polling any considerable number of Democratic votes. Nor will he succeed in gaining any support from the Republicans, who long ago put him on the blacklist because he changed from that party to the Democrats.

The Wallace vote, whatever it amounts to, will consequently have to come from independent sources, plus the Communist and ultra radical fringe. It remains to be seen whether there will be enough of these to matter.

Jackets and Jayhawks Flashed Hot and Cold

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 2—The Orange Bowl post-mortem, or just how did it happen?

Opinions of the game have ranged all the way from Kansas was lucky to Tech was lucky, but practically everybody agrees it was one of the most peculiar games ever played.

It was odd in that the two teams flashed hot and cold and actually, only in these final few minutes when the Jayhawks threatened to tie or win it was there really any great excitement.

Certainly better football has been played by both teams, but the boys put on a show, scored five touchdowns between them and satisfied everybody, especially the Orange Bowl promoters, who weren't at all happy about last year's 8-0 game between Rice and Tennessee.

The first quarter was even and it looked as if this one also might wind up in a low-scoring contest. It was Tech which first got hot and scored midway the second period. Then it was Kansas' turn, leaving it tied at the intermission.

The Yellow Jackets looked as if they would run away with it in the third, scoring twice with considerable ease. But then George Sauer took his regulars out of the Kansas lineup and the reserves picked up a fallen torch to almost snatch the chestnut out of the fire.

There was no consistency about either team. Either it was very hot or very cold and, consequently, the game ran the same way.

Lauds Williams' Punting Although Tech's first touchdown was scored on a pass from Jim Still to Red Patton, a large part of the credit for it should be given Billy Williams, the punting specialist who turned in his best job of the season.

Williams got Kansas in a hole late in the first period with a booming 53-yard punt which went out of bounds on the Jayhawk four-yard line. He never let them out of the trap until Tech had scored.

His next kick traveled only 37 yards, but it went out on the Kansas six. Williams' next one was to Ray Evans on the 'Hawk six and was returned six yards.

However, a clipping penalty set Kansas back to its own one. A delay of the game violation cost the 'Hawks another half yard and Pattee's return punt from behind his goal line was taken by George Mathews on the Kansas 40 and returned 14 yards to the 26.

Bob McCoy got a couple of yards and Red Patton came running into the game. He tried that running pass which won the Georgia game, but it was broken up by McNutt. Then the redhead turned receiver and grabbed Still's toss in the end zone.

However, it was Williams' fine kicking which set the stage.

Tech Standouts Besides Williams, Still and Dinky Bowen were other Jacket heroes. Of course, Bill Healy, Bob Davis and George Brodnax played fine games, but, as Bobby Dodd says, we expected them to.

It was Williams, Still and Bowen who surprised and who actually spelled the difference. Still's passing was his best of the season. He completed 10 of 13, including all of Tech's touchdowns.

Still is interested in signing a professional contract. Dodd believes he will have a good future in pro football as a T-formation quarterback, since his passing and ball handling have been improving all along.

As for Bowen, everybody knew he had the heart and the desire to play a good game, but they didn't figure he was physically able. Well, he surprised them and turned in a good job, both on defense and offense.

George Mathews also turned in a fine performance despite just recovering from a broken leg. He wasn't able to run at top speed, but his defensive work was outstanding and he set up Tech's first score with a 14-yard punt return.

Jackets Praise Griffith In our book, the Kansas stars were Schnellbacher, Griffith, Evans and a 153-pound end named Dave Schmidt. The latter was all over the field, rushing the Tech passer and stopping any and all wide plays which came around his way.

Notre Dame Coach Frank Leahy called him the outstanding lineman on the field.

The lanky Schnellbacher is one of the best pass receivers we have ever seen. He fights for the ball even when covered, and has a sure pair of hands.

Evens scored both touchdowns and proved his All-American rating by playing a bang-up defensive game. However, he was overshadowed on offense by Griffith, called by the Jackets the hardest runner they have played against.

Griffith reminds one of Frank Sinkwich in that he shakes all over when running and has that mysterious ability to go that extra three or four yards even when hit headon by two or more tacklers.

Armed Wins First '48 Start

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 2—(AP)—Calumet Farm sent its 1947 champion, Armed, out for his 1948 debut in a six-furlong event at Gulfstream Park Friday and was rewarded with victory and a $2,000 check which pushed the thoroughbred's all-time winnings to $763,700, leaving him $52,360 behind first-place Stymie on the world money winning list.

The Warren Wright gelding, destined to be the prima donna of the Florida campaign for the second straight season, made his first start since running third in the Pimlico Special Oct. 31.

Jockey Doug Dodson rode Armed out to the limit to take the major share of the $3,500 Galiedo Purse by a half length. But Dodson, who has ridden Armed in just about all of his races, kept true to form in never touching the gelding with a whip.

The seven-year-old brown son of Bull Lea picked up some 10 lengths in the last quarter-mile and was timed in a fast 1:11 1-5. Carrying 124 pounds and spotting lots of weight to his four rivals, Armed was a 9 to 20 choice. He paid $2.90 and $2.40.

A crowd of 11,136 saw Stageboy, owned by I. Solomon, finish second by three lengths over C. T. Chenery's Mangohick, with Big and Better fourth and Vanslam last of the quarter. Roi Rouge, winner of four straight races, was scratched because of a mild case of colic.

Jack Harden Tops Field at Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 2—(AP)—Leading the field with the tournament favorites in close pursuit, Jack Harden, 33-year-old ex-GI from El Paso, Texas, fired a subpar 67 Friday in the first round of the annual $10,000 Los Angeles Open.

One stroke back of the Texas professional were Defending Champion Ben Hogan and Bill Spiller, 34-year-old former Los Angeles red cap, who carded identical nine-hole scores of 36-32—68 for the par 35-36—71 layout of the Riviera Country Club.

South Africa's Bobby Locke and former U. S. National Open Champion Lloyd Mangrum, of Los Angeles, finishing the round as fog and darkness closed in, matched scores with 70s, three strokes back of the darkhorse pace setter Harden.

Sam Snead, a former Los Angeles Open winner, and Bob Hamilton, of Evansville, Ind., one-time PGA titleholder, quit the course at the 12th hole, both even with par, and will finish the round Saturday.

Lanier Poets Shade Brown Rebels, 37-33

MACON, Jan. 2—Lanier's Poets came from behind in the last three minutes of play to defeat the Brown Rebels, 37-33, in the opening cage game of the season here Friday night.

Paced by Jimmy Halton, who recently returned from a tour in the Marine Corps, Lanier jumped into an early lead. But Brown put on a rally and trimmed the margin to 18-15 at the half.

Then in the fourth period with Forward Bill Darden leading the way, the Rebs took over the lead. However, Lanier bounced right back to win.

Halton, with 14 and Claude Green with 9, were high for the Poets, while Darden's 10 and Williams' 9 markers were tops for Brown.

SCORES BULLDOG TOUCHDOWN—Halfback Joe Geri momentarily drops the ball as he plunges over for Georgia's second touchdown in Thursday's Gator Bowl with Maryland in Jacksonville. Joe, who is also an extra-point specialist, retrieved the ball to make the score stick. The game ended in a 20-20 tie.

'STEERS FELL ON ALABAMA'

Dazed Tide Supporters Blame Setback on Layne and Luck

By CHARLIE ROBERTS,
Constitution Sports Writer.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 2—Followers of the Crimson Tide awoke Friday with two headaches, one from the usual reason and the other from the screaming headline: "Texas Wallops Alabama, 27-7, in Sugar Bowl."

The question "What has happened to Alabama?" was bandied about freely in ballrooms and barrooms alike by sports writers, coaches and fans New Year's night here and many were the theories advanced.

Of course, a few of the less discriminating subscribed to the theory of Writer Hal Yockey, of the New Orleans Times Picayune: "Steers Fell on Alabama," and let it go at that.

Most of the writers used such phrases of "luck and breaks" in explaining the rout even though admitting Bobby Layne is about as fine a long passer as they have seen.

Ends Ralph (Peggy) Blount and Max Bumgardner, who made sensational catches of several heaves by Layne, generally were admittedly unusually superior. (Layne was voted the most valuable player in the game by sports writers and was presented the first annual Warren A. Miller trophy.

Freddie Russell, Sports Editor of the Nashville Banner, and Tom Siler, of the Chicago Sun, and Chick Hosch, of the AP, joined many other writers in doubting that the blocked punt really won the ball game for Texas. They point out that Alabama still had plenty of time to win with a quarter and a half still remaining.

All, including Harry Gilmer himself, point out that Gilmer played one of his poorest ball games. Gilmer was rushed hard and constantly by the Texas line, however, while Layne had time to eat a sandwich while waiting to pick out his receivers. In phases of play other than rushing the passer, the Tide forewall was quite a bit superior to the Texas upfront forces, or that was the consensus of opinion. Ray Richeson, Capt. John Wozniak, Ed White and Ray O'Sullivan all played bruising football in the 'Bama line. Red Noonan, with 20 yards gained in five carries, was the standout in a backfield that covered passes very poorly at times.

The real answer to why Alabama was routed — the one advanced by most of the scribes and coaches—was the "bush league" football played by the losers in the fourth quarter. They got some "tom-tom" quarterbacking—dumb, dumb, dumb.

Freddie Russell thought out loud that "there never will be two cheaper touchdowns scored than the two last-quarter six-pointers that Texas was awarded." Once Gilmer threw right into the hands of Lewis Holder, Langhorn end, and it was just a breeze for the latter to romp 19 yards to the score. Seconds later Gilmer fumbled back on his own five and Holder recovered for Texas to set up the final tally.

Frank Thomas, Alabama athletic director, and Head Coach Red Drew, who were among the throng at the annual Sugar Bowl party honoring the two teams at the St. Charles Hotel Thursday night, figured Texas Tackle George Petrovich turned the tide when he blocked Norman Mosley's punt in the third quarter and Guard Vic Vasicek fell on it for the TD that put the Longhorns ahead, 14-7.

Zipp Newman, veteran Birmingham sports writer, was bitter about that play, too, and adhered to that old saw: "One should learn early in life to stay away from rye whiskey and grass widows and to punt on third down when deep in your own territory. (Mosley had thrown an incomplete pass on third down the play before his kick was blocked.) Frank Thomas and Drew said someone evidently missed a blocking assignment on Petrovich, saying he had clear sailing to make the block.

A number of coaches say SEC teams should beware of playing Southwest Conference outfits. "They throw the ball around so much out there they are very good at stopping our passes," one Tide coach remarked. "If we play them much we'll soon learn how to defend against passes, by golly."

All coaches and writers are hailed the end play, both defensive and offensive, of Bumgardner, Blount and Dale Schwartzkopf as well as nigh perfect.

The Alabama players joined Captain Wozniak in saying Georgia Tech, which the Tide handed its only defeat, is a better team than Texas. They blamed themselves for what they termed a poor performance in the Sugar Bowl.

"Breaks and luck?" yes, there was something to that too. Every break went to Texas. But you can't score if you don't have the football. Texas ran 74 plays from scrimmage, Alabama 45. Alabama stayed bustle deep in trouble throughout.

Big Waiting List

MILWAUKEE, Jan. 2—(AP)—The American Bowling Congress reported Friday it had a "waiting list" of more than 1,000 five-man teams for the 1948 National Tournament in Detroit.

Brodnax Makes All-Bowl Team

By STEVE SNIDER,
United Press Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, Jan. 2—(UP)—From reports of New Year's Day football games comes an All-Bowl team today, dominated by some of the lads who have been grabbing headlines since the first kickoff way back in September.

This simply is one fan's opinion of how the bowls sounded in print and on the air. No medals, trophies or hand-knitted sweaters will be awarded but we'll be happy to tip our hat to these men any time and so will most of the millions of fans around the nation:

ENDS—Bob Mann, of Michigan; George Brodnax, Georgia Tech.

TACKLES — Ziggy Czarobski, East All - Stars (Notre Dame); George Petrovich, Texas.

GUARDS—Earl Cook, Southern Methodist; Steve Suhey, Penn State.

CENTER — Walt McCormick, Southern California.

BACKS—Johnny Lujack, East All-Stars (Notre Dame); Bobby Layne, Texas; Bob Chappius, Michigan; Doak Walker, Southern Methodist.

Broken down into totals by schools that makes two each from Michigan, Notre Dame, Texas and Southern Methodist with one each from Georgia Tech, Penn State and Southern California.

Indicating how class will tell, that backfield of Lujack, Layne, Chappius and Walker — the four dominant backfield stars of the day—all made the United Press All-America.

If there was a threat to any of the backfield "big four" it was by Penn State's Elwood Petchell, who pitched two touchdown passes in an offensive duel with Walker as Penn State and SMU struggled to a 13-to-13 tie. But Walker, who passed for one touchdown, scored one himself, kicked an extra point and missed one, was a defensive star as well. His fourth-period pass interception, checking a spirited Penn State bid for victory, gave him our nod over Petchell.

Lujack, masterful as ever in engineering the East to a 40-to-9 victory over the West, pitched two touchdown passes, scored one touchdown himself and set up another before he retired. He was voted the game's most valuable player.

Chappuis shared honors with Fullback Jack Weisenberger as Michigan routed Southern California, 49-0, but it wasn't precisely an equal share. Bullet Bob set up the first two scores with passes, threw two for touchdowns and set up a fifth with a 38-yard run.

Layne clearly outclassed Alabama's Harry Gilmer in the Sugar Bowl, passing for one and running for another while field generaling the Texas Tornado to a 27-7 victory. Layne also was voted the game's most valuable player.

In the line, Michigan's Mann and Georgia Tech's Brodnax had great days as pass receivers. Czarobski was a man-mountain in the East's forward wall and Petrovich, the Texas tackle, made one of the key plays in the Sugar Bowl by blocking an Alabama punt that produced a touchdown and made it that much easier for Layne.

Cook, of Southern Methodist, had a terrific day from all accounts, recovering a fumble, piling up a Penn State drive on SMU's one, and knocking down a pass with 20 seconds to play. Suhey was less spectacular but his name was prominent in the Cotton Bowl report.

For center, Fritz Crisler, of Michigan, picked that one—Walt McCormick, of Southern California.

There were plenty of backs to pick from, as always — Charley Conerly, of Mississippi; Johnny Rauch, of Georgia; Weisenberger, of Michigan; Jim Still, of Georgia Tech, and Ray Evans, of Kansas, among the best.

And that's either the last "all" team of 1947 or the first of 1948.

ALABAMA CAPTAIN SAYS TECH BETTER THAN LONGHORNS

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 2 Georgia Tech, winner over Kansas in Miami's 1948 Orange Bowl game New Year's Day, is a better football team than Texas' Sugar Bowl champions in the opinion of John Wozniak, captain and guard of Alabama's Crimson Tide.

Wozniak, whose team bowed to Texas, 27-7, in the New Orleans' Sugar Bowl Thursday but handed Tech its only defeat of the year in regular season, 14-7, made the following statement after the Sugar Bowl fray:

"We did not play our best game and we were beaten by a Texas team that played good football. Much as I'd like to say Texas was the best team we played, I still have to say that Georgia Tech, in my opinion, was better. The only difference was that we played good football against Georgia Tech, much better than against Texas." — CHARLIE ROBERTS.

Primo Carnera Clips Kirchmeyer on Mat

Primo Carnera, former world's heavyweight boxing champion who is now touring as a heavyweight wrestler, pinned Rolland Kirschmeyer after 10 minutes of action in the main event on Friday's wrestling card at the City Auditorium.

A sellout crowd witnessed the event.

In the other matches, Paul Stanlee and Bobby Roberts battled to a draw; Chief Cherokee whipped Irish Jack Kelley in 14 minutes and Bibber McCoy and Al Massey won in straight falls from Tom Mahoney and Al Galento in a team tag match.

Quarterback Says Jackets Stole Ball

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 2—(AP)—Quarterback Lynne McNutt, whose fumble on the one-yard line in the last few minutes of play killed Kansas' chances of tying or possibly defeating Georgia Tech in the Orange Bowl, said Friday Tech "stole the ball, but it's all my fault." Tech won, 20-14.

The 24-year-old Kansan, who'll enter law school next year, said "Dick Monroe gave me a perfect snapback and I just didn't hold onto it.

"I don't know what caused me to drop it. Nothing like that ever happened to me before.

"It was the third time I had fumbled in the game. The first two instances, and I'm sure Monroe will agree with me, his passes weren't too good. But not that time—Dick put the ball right to me and I bobbled it. I had it right in my hands, then it was gone.

"But a quick whistle would have saved me. I dropped to my knee, temporarily gained possession of the ball, then felt the whole Tech team pile on me. It seemed like the whole team, anyway. Somebody's shoulder got under me, and the ball was gone again.

"It was stolen from me right there on the ground. It turned out to be a question of how quickly the referee blew his whistle. If he'd blown it right away, I would have had the ball. As it was, by the time he got there I had lost possession."

Tech's Rollo Phillips was on the ball when all the players were removed from the pile and the Engineers took control for the rest of the game.

Coach George Sauer said he saw McNutt recover the fumble but "I'm not protesting the referee's decision. As a matter of fact, at the time it happened, I said to myself 'we didn't make it that time but we've got a couple of more chances.'"

He admitted the possibility of the ball being stolen from McNutt in the pileup, and added, "that may have been what happened—I don't know."

Ray Evans, Kansas' All-America halfback, said he turned in a "poor" game. "I couldn't get going somehow."

Evans complimented Tech's Jim Still who threw three touchdown passes. He described him as the "sweetest tosser I've seen."

Georgia Tech's Jim Still Signs Pro Pact With Los Angeles Dons

By GEORGE TISINGER,
Constitution Sports Writer.

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 2—Tech's Quarterback Jim Still, who hurled three touchdowns passes in the Jacket Orange Bowl victory over Kansas here New Year's Day, announced to The Constitution Friday that he had signed a contract with the Los Angeles Dons, of the All-America Football Conference to play pro football.

Still, who was reported drafted by the New York Yankees, agreed to the one-year contract shortly after the bowl game here.

Still played at end at Perkinston Junior College in Mississippi in 1941 and at quarterback in 1942 prior to his entry into the Marine Corps. He played at Tech in the end spot in 1943 while he was in the Marine V-12 program there. Since his return from the service he has been a regular quarterback during the 1946 and 1947 seasons. He climaxed his collegiate grid years in the bowl game as he played perhaps the best game of his career.

Jim announced that he would not graduate but would report to the Dons' training camp in either July or August. He expected to conclude his work for a degree on the West Coast after his first season as a professional player.

His record in the Orange Bowl game was 10 pass completions in 13 tries for 123 yards.

Coach Bobby Dodd and everybody else were loud in their praise of the way Dinky Bowen came through to light down the injury jinx he has been laboring under for too many weeks.

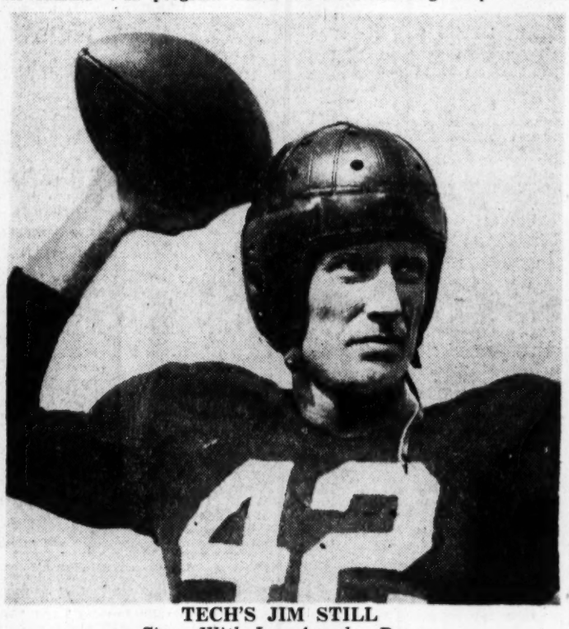

The backfield utility man from Greenville, Miss., was frankly not counted on for too much during the Bowl battle because of his injured leg ligament. He was in full gear only twice during the pregame practice sessions here.

But Jan. 1, Dinky was in full flower and did a whale of a job running with that leather. He looked like the Dinky of old during drives for two six-pointers in the third quarter.

And no matter how much has been written about the performance of Capt. Bill Healey in the Bowl, it isn't enough. He was hailed by many as the best Tech lineman on the field, even outshining his All-American teammate Bob Davis. The Kansas players led the cheering for Healey, and they ought to know.

Friday the Tech party was scattering out. The gladiators were enjoying themselves without the rigorous training rules keeping them from watching the clock when they took in Miami's sights.

Some left Friday morning for home. Others pulled out Friday night. The main Tech party was scheduled to break camp Saturday night and were due in Atlanta about noon Sunday.

Rumor Has DiMaggio Asking $75,000 Salary

NEW YORK, Jan. 2—(AP)—The New York baseball Yankees disclosed Friday that Gen. Mgr. George Weiss had conferred with Joe DiMaggio, but declined comment on published reports that the American League's most valuable player had asked a 1948 salary of $75,000.

"The New York Yankees do not deny that they have entered into contract negotiations with Joe DiMaggio and other members of the team," the club said in a prepared statement.

"It has been mutually agreed by DiMaggio and George Weiss, Vice President and General Manager of the Yankees that no publicity will be given on any details of these negotiations.

"The Yankees therefore have no comment to make on publicity given to any figure supposedly mentioned in a conference earlier this week.

"Contracts are being forwarded to some players on the Yankee squad while others who plan visits to New York in the near future will discuss terms personally with Mr. Weiss."

At the same time, the club denied current reports that Ed Barrow, former Yankee President, would be offered an executive position in the organization.

Dan Topping, who has been President since he and Del Webb purchased Larry MacPhail's one-third interest at the close of the 1947 season, is in Florida but issued this statement through the club:

"Reports are coming to me of certain statements in the press predicting the return of Ed Barrow to the Yankees in an executive capacity. Speaking for Mr. Webb and myself, I would like to say these reports are utterly unfounded. George Weiss as General Manager of the Yankees will remain in complete charge of all baseball activities of the club."

Zimmerman Advises Coast To Buy Up Big Nine Contract

PASADENA, Cal., Jan. 2—(AP)—Michigan's all-conquering Wolverines, the plaudits of Rose Bowl observers still ringing loud in their ears, boarded a noon train Friday taking them back to their Ann Arbor lair.

Coach Fritz Crisler, his 44 players and assistants left on a special section of the Santa Fe Super Chief at 11:59 a. m. (PST) after an "evening on the town" celebrating their tremendous 49-0 victory over Southern California's Trojans.

"Relax and enjoy yourselves" was Crisler's only post-bowl instructions to his Big Nine champions after the game. And they immediately struck out for the bright lights of Los Angeles and Hollywood.

Injuries in the contest were minor. All-America Bob Chappuis, who passed and ran to a new Rose Bowl record of 279 yards, aggravated a torn leg muscle which he claimed "slowed me up some." End Dick Rifenburg, who caught one touchdown pass, came out with a hurt shoulder, and his running mate, Bob Mann, suffered a knee injury.

The Wolverines carried armfuls of newspapers aboard the train, planning to spend most of the homeward trip reading their rave notices which included unstinted praise for their speed and blocking, as well as their much-heralded deception.

Among the required reading items:

Paul Zimmerman, Los Angeles Times Sports Editor—"We suggest that the best thing the Pacific Coast Conference can do is buy up the Big Nine's contract. At the present reading, the best clause in the five-year pact is the one which will keep both Illinois and Michigan from returning next season."

Earl (Red) Blaik, Army coach—"It's almost impossible to compare Michigan and Notre Dame. Notre Dame operates the T to perfection. Michigan is perfection from the single wing."

Bob Snyder, Los Angeles Ram Coach—"That was the finest college offense I've ever looked at."

Ray Flaherty, New York Yankees' Coach—"I have never seen a college club with the tremendous overall speed Michigan has."

Bob Oates, Los Angeles Examiner—"If Bob Chappuis wasn't Michigan's best, then it must have been Jack Weisenburger, Bump Elliott, Howie Yerges, Bob Wilkins, Mann Bruce Hilkene—or Crisler."

George T. Davis, Evening Herald-Express—"There never was a better football team than the Wolverines in the Rose Bowl."

Commissioner K. L. (Tug) Wilson of the Big Nine—"The best football team I've ever seen."

And Crisler himself — "The greatest performance by the greatest team I ever coached."

As for USC's Jeff Cravath—"My boys tried all the way. They were just too many for us."

Religion and Education Starved to Death-Sutton

By HERMAN HANCOCK

Although the future progress and economic development of America depends primarily on religious and educational training, religion and education are being starved literally to death, Dr. Willis A. Sutton, Superintendent Emeritus of the Atlanta School System, told members of the Atlanta Board of Education Friday.

Sutton's warning was the highlight of a reorganizational meeting for the new year at which Ed S. Cook, First Ward member, was elected President for the thirteenth consecutive year.

"Even with the modest increases which have been given teachers, they are still far below other professions in the matter of compensation," Sutton said. "The average salary for 1943 was $1,700. Because of this, the profession is not getting the high-caliber persons it needs and the same thing is true of preachers. We must do something about it or we will not have competent teachers or pastors."

Sutton cited figures showing that school population is increasing at a rapid pace while applications for teaching jobs are lagging.

In addition to electing Cook, the Board voted to retire Mrs. Fannie Mae Weston, who has served as Board Secretary for nearly 24 years. Miss Louise Simpson, stenographer assigned to the office of Miss Ira Jarrell, School Superintendent, was elected to succeed Mrs. Weston beginning Feb. 1.

Carl M. Floyd, Vice President of the Fulton National Bank, was elected Treasurer, succeeding Albert G. Mathews, Vice President of the First National Bank. Under a rotation system an official of an Atlanta bank is elected Treasurer each year.

The Board re-elected the following other officers:

Devereaux F. McClatchey, Vice President, and the Rev. Harrison McMains, Chaplain.

Sutton was accompanied to the Board session by Kendall Weisiger, a telephone company official and one of Sutton's admirers.

The Board authorized appropriation of $300 to pay for a series of six lectures to twelfth-grade students by Dr. Grace Sloan Overton, nationally known authority on homemaking and marriage relations. Dr. Sloan was brought to Atlanta by the Georgia Citizens' Council.

Two Fires Here Leave Damage Set at $20,000

Two fires, one which was believed to have resulted in damages exceeding $20,000, Friday night were fought by six fire companies.

Water damage comprised most of the loss at the C. H. Martin Company, 329-331 Marietta St., N. W., where observers believed machinery and equipment sustained $20,000 in damages. A spokesman for the Company, which manufactures braces and artificial limbs for Shrine Hospitals over the nation, said a complete survey of damages would be impossible before today.

Three fire companies that answered the alarm spread canvass as far as possible over machinery to lessen water damages. The flames originated in an attic and shot out of the roof before being subdued by firemen. Despite smoke damage to the interior, the walls and front of the building appeared unscathed on the exterior.

Fire damage to an apartment house at Baker and Courtland Streets was reported negligible. Chief C. C. Styron answered the alarm with three areial truck and pumpers because of the nearness of the structure to St. Joseph's Hospital.

Fires Send Four to Hospital; Overcome by Smoke; 1 Hurt

Two persons were overcome by smoke and another was injured slightly in a fire Friday at 221 Baker St., N. W., which destroyed a two-story tenement and left 14 persons homeless.

Two firemen were overcome by smoke in a second fire at 826 Peachtree St., where two apartments in a large apartment house were badly damaged by smoke, flames and water.

Sam Vines, 50, suffered leg and shoulder injuries in the Baker St. fire when he jumped from a window of the burning house to an adjoining roof with his three-year-old granddaughter in his arms.

Mrs. Sam Vines, 48, and Clarence McCall, 80, were overcome by smoke in the blaze, which firemen said apparently was caused by defective wiring. Mr. and Mrs. Vines and McCall were treated at Grady Hospital.

A Red Cross worker made a survey of the needs at the Baker St. fire and rendered emergency assistance to the homeless group.

Patrolmen C. F. Sanders and L. O. Davis attributed the blaze in the Peachtree apartment house to "a short circuit or burned-out motor in a gas refrigerator." The fire caused heavy damage to furnishings of two apartments.

Poisonous gases from the fire made it necessary for firemen to don gas masks as they fought the apartment blaze. Two firemen were overcome by smoke but were dismissed after treatment at Grady Hospital.

THE TROUBLED WORLD

Troop Mop-Ups, Blasts Form Backdrops for Talks, Warnings

ATHENS, Greece, Jan. 2—Victorious Greek Army troops pushed into the rugged, rain-drenched hills around Konitsa Friday hoping to smash the remnants of Communist Gen. Markos Vafiades' guerrillas who failed after weeklong fighting to capture the city as a capital for their "Free Greek" Government.

A War Ministry announcement said units of the Eighth Division mopping up the guerrillas were encountering stubborn resistance between Konitsa and the Albanian border, five miles away.

EXPLOSIONS, ROBBERIES

JERUSALEM, Palestine—(UP) Two British corporals, a Jewish nurse and an Arab bank guard were killed in a series of ambushes and robberies in Palestine.

Jewish settlers in the North charged that "foreign Arabs" were crossing into Palestine in increasing numbers, soon to start full-scale attacks on isolated settlements.

ANGRY DEPUTIES

PARIS—(AP)—The life of the Government of Premier Robert Schuman was in jeopardy, even as it agreed on a treaty to conditions of American Winter aid.

There was considerable doubt whether Schuman, who less than a month ago beat down a Communist-led strike surge, could push through an angry National Chamber of Deputies an unpopular income-tax bill to raise an additional 125,000,000,000 francs ($1,041,000,000).

TRIZONIA TALKS

LONDON — (UP) — The United States, Great Britain and France have started talks on merger of the three Western Occupation Zones in Germany, competent French informants said.

The talks are being conducted through diplomatic channels, informants said, and at this stage are tentative. They are intended primarily to establish a basis for conclusion of an eventual agreement on merger of the Anglo-American Zones — "Bizonia" — with the French Zone into a new "Trizonia."

FLY TO CHURCHILL

LONDON — (INS) — Winston Churchill's personal physician, Lord Moran, and Mrs. Churchill flew from London to French Morocco where the former Prime Minister is slightly ill.

Their departure, along with that of Lady Moran, coincided with rumors that the wartime British leader was seriously ill. There was even one wild report that Churchill had died. News offices were bombarded with queries, but Churchill's close friends said his condition was not serious.

VISAS REQUESTED

BUCHAREST—(AP)—The Communist-controlled Government of Romania moved to permit the abdicated King Mihai, his mother and 33 others of his retinue to leave their homeland, and asked the Swiss Government for the necessary visas.

MOSLEMS WARNED

NEW DELHI, India — (UP) — Premier Jawaharlal Nehru warned Pakistan that India might be forced to invade its territory if Moslem raiders continued their big-scale attacks in Kashmir from bases on Pakistan soil.

SENTIMENTAL TIES

TOKYO—(INS)—Hideki Tojo, Japan's "Pearl Harbor" Premier, testified at his war crimes trial that Japan was guided during the war by her national interests and had only "sentimental" ties with the European Axis partners, Germany and Italy.

8-CHILD TABOO

Eviction Faces Family of 10; It's 'Terrifying'

It's "terrifying" when you have eight children and no place to live.

So say Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Thomas, of Bennett St., N. W. in Bolton, who face immediate eviction.

"Ive been to every agency in town," said Mrs. Thomas, "and I've walked and walked until I've lost 30 pounds trying to find some place to live." Mrs. Thomas, whose children are aged 3, 5, 6, 9, 11, 13, 15 and 16 years, said nobody seems to want that many children in his house—and she's "desperate."

"We're not asking for charity," she explained. "We can pay a modest rent. We just want a roof over our heads."

Mrs. Thomas said anyone with a suggestion could reach her through her sister, Mrs. Charles Austin, at LAmar 3105.

High Safety Mark Set in '47 by Georgia Power

Georgia Power Company employees in 1947 compiled one of the best safety records in the Company's history, Pres. C. B. McManus announced.

Only 44 accidents were recorded in which employees received injuries serious enough to cause loss of time from work. The .69 disabling injury rate was .08 less than the 1946 rate. There were three fatalities, the same number as the previous year.

The Augusta Division won the President's Safety Award after running up a perfect safety record for the fifth consecutive year.

Rails' Strength Buoys Prices In Stock List

NEW YORK, Jan. 2—(AP)—A late burst of strength in the rails buoyed an otherwise weather-beaten stock market today on its initial 1948 session although many leaders elsewhere failed to respond and dealings were among the slowest of the past four months.

Snow, sleet and rain in New York and various sections of the country interfered from the start with normal brokerage business. The situation was so serious that officials of both the Stock Exchange and Curb decided to suspend the Saturday short proceedings. A number of other securities marts also will close tomorrow.

The ticker tape dozed during most of the day, only 380,000 shares appearing in the first four hours. The rails then put on a sprint and recoveries appeared for utilities and industrials, while gains of fractions to a point or more were widely distributed at the close, declines of as much persisted for numerous leaders. Transfers for the day totaled 700,000 shares against 1,540,000 Wednesday and were a minimum for a full stretch since September 26.

Carriers again were spurred by the recent rate boost and rising operating incomes. In other sections there was some repurchasing by those who had sold for tax purposes but this was notably timid. Diverse opinions in Wall Street regarding business, rising money rates, the wage outlook and international affairs in coming months accentuated caution.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was up .3 of a point at 66 with the rail index ahead a full point at 38.6, a new 1947-1948 high. The industrials were off .3 and the utilities up .4 of a point. It was the narrowest market since Sept. 24, only 883 issues registering. Of these, 505 rose and 214 fell.

Bonds made slow progress today but stayed on the recovery side in the first 1948 session. Moderate demand supported a number of rails and higher priced utilities and industrials. Scanty volume in all sections reflected the disruptions caused by widespread severe weather, which led to decision against opening either the Stock or Curb Exchange Saturday.

Forward Curb movers were Aluminum of America, Electric Bond & Share, Gleaner Harvester, Humble Oil and American Gas. Backward were Cities Service, Consolidated Gas of Baltimore, Kaiser-Frazer and United Shoe Machinery. Turnover here was 150,000 shares versus 370,000 in the preceding session.

N. Y. Exchanges Close Because of Weather

NEW YORK, Jan. 2—(AP)—The New York Stock Exchange announced today trading would be suspended tomorrow, Jan. 3, because of storm conditions.

The New York Curb Exchange announced a similar suspension immediately following news of the stock market action.

A short time later the New York Cotton Exchange announced it would be closed tomorrow, G. T. Tolson, President, reporting that transportation difficulties would make it impossible to get enough personnel for orderly functioning.

"Because of the severe weather conditions affecting a large part of the country," an announcement by the Stock Exchange said, "the board of governors has determined that the Exchange will not be open tomorrow."

The Exchange had considered closing last week because of bad weather conditions but decided against it because of technical considerations revolving around tax selling.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 2—(AP) The New Orleans Cotton Exchange today decided to remain open tomorrow for the usual two-hour session despite the closing of the New York Cotton Exchange.

Steady Selling Puts Wheat On Price Skid

CHICAGO, Jan. 2—(AP)—Light but persistent selling knocked wheat values down several cents on the Board of Trade today. Oats also were weak, but corn displayed a relatively steady undertone. Soybeans ended with small gains.

Weather was the major market factor. Snow in parts of the Southwest was expected to give the Winter wheat crop needed protection against low temperatures. In contrast, the mid-Western snow and sleet were expected to delay corn marketings and increase feed consumption.

Wheat closed 1¼ to 4 cents lower, May $2.93¼-½, corn was ½ lower to ¾ higher, May $2.53¾-⅝, oats were ½-1¼ lower, May $1.18⅛-¼, and soybeans were 2 cents higher, March $4.06.

There were no indications that the Commodity Credit Corporation had re-entered the cash wheat market on the first business day of the new year. Analysis calculated that the agency still has more than 100,000,000 bushels to purchase to meet minimum export goals.

A good part of the selling in wheat came from the Southwest, which suggested that producers were marketing grain more freely. Cash houses buying the grain would naturally hedge by selling futures, it was pointed out. However, there were no concrete reports of an enlarged movement.

In its monthly summary, the Santa Fe Railway said that in the Southwest the wheat outlook "has brightened materially during the past few weeks, but the new crop has a long way to go between now and harvest and the hazards are many." The road said the biggest dangers were Winter killing and wind erosion."

Flour business continued dull, which trade sources said was not unusual at this time of year. However, the Northwestern Miller, a trade publication, said, "Mills are hopeful of an expanded trade early in 1948, particularly if recent price weakness continues."

The May corn contract went against the general trend of all grains by closing with a slight gain Much of the buying was attributed to a large commission house. Oats, steady early, weakened with wheat late in the day.

Firmness in soybeans reflected strength in the cash market. Lard ended 10 to 28 cents a hundred pounds lower, January $26.27.

The Board of Trade will be open for the usual half-day Saturday session today.

Theme of the conference, which will attract hundreds of communal leaders, is "To Bigotry—No Sanction." In his remarks to the national assembly at the opening session, Oberdorfer is expected to trace the growth of the JDA, which has expanded under his leadership to its present strength of 587 communal leaders, representing every section of the country.

Long Liquidation Drops N. O. Cotton

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 2—(AP)—Cotton futures declined here today under long liquidation and hedge selling. Closing prices were steady 45 cents to $1.10 a bale lower.

Lack of a fresh demand, long liquidation from traders who expected a higher market following the turn of the year and absence of spot demand were the principal reasons for the decline.

While most of the Eastern markets will be closed tomorrow due to inclement weather, New Orleans will be open as usual. Spot cotton declined 75 cents a bale. Local spot sales amounted to 892 bales.

Profit-Taking Hits N. Y. Cotton Prices

NEW YORK, Jan. 2—(AP)—Cotton futures registered losses of 20 to 95 cents a bale in slow dealings today.

Persistent commission house profit-taking was credited partly to tax operations. Replacement hedging by mills, who covered contract prior to the year-end, was a feature.

Prices at one time were almost $2 a bale under the previous close, but recovered partially on mill buying against textile sales. There was some commission house interest in distant months, influenced by expectations of a tight supply situation by Spring.

Exporters thought French buying of cotton may develop soon with the announcement that the United States cotton export subsidy has been extended.

Boris Karloff, who has scared most of us on stage and screen, of course, would tell a ghost story. It's about the darky preacher who was offered $50 if he stayed all night in a supposedly haunted house. He did and came out the next morning looking none the worse for wear. "How did you do it" he was asked. "I went in," he said, "and when I saw half a dozen ghosts I started to pray. They still stayed. Then I quoted a chapter from the Bible. They still stayed. Then I got up and started to take up a collection. THEY WERE GONE!"

Your City Hall

By HERMAN HANCOCK

PAY ADJUSTMENTS — The City Personnel Board Friday approved new pay scales for 86 municipal employees, 64 of whom are employed by the Carnegie Library. The increases range from $5 monthly for new classifications to $100 for executives. Thirteen ploice lieutenants will get $10 monthly pay hikes in a revision which places them all under one classification. Five new jobs were created and the salary of First Asst. City Atty. J. Charlie Murphy was increased from $400 to $500 a month. All the recommendations are subject to approval by the Mayor and Council.

RETIREMENT RESISTED—Miss Bertha Stansell, 72, employee of the City Building Inspector's office for nearly 22 years, proposes to resist retirement under a law compelling general pension fund employees to leave City employ when they become 70 years old. Because Miss Stansell failed to enter the pension fund years ago, she is not entitled to a pension, she reported to Building Inspector Marvin Harper Friday. He informed her he could not keep her on the pay roll under an opinion from City Atty. Jack C. Savage, and she left with an indication she will appeal to the courts. Harper said there was nothing he could do about it and announced "I'm going fishing."

$30,000 PERMIT — Permit for construction of a $30,000 second story for a building at 109 Peachtree St., N. E., has been granted by Building Inspector Harper. The work will be done by the Volunteer State Life Insurance Company, of Chattanooga.

HARTSFIELD FAVORS LITTLE MAN—When, as and if the City is able to give added bonuses to municipal employees to help combat the rising costs of living, Mayor Hartsfield will favor giving the lion's share to those in the low-income brackets. Pointing out that the disappointing cash carryover of $1,883,293 into the new year means a "tight budget," Hartsfield pointed out that the economic shoe is pinching low-paid workers more than those in the upper brackets and said he will concentrate his major efforts toward helping those who are suffering most.

POLICE PRAISED—Irving H. and Marvin C. Goldstein praised the Atlanta Police Department, and Dets. R. E. Little, Jr., and W. L. Gowen in particular, for their part in the investigation of the slaying of their father, A. M. Goldstein, a Decatur Street merchant. The sons said if the two detectives "are any indication of the type of men on the Department, the people of Atlanta need have no fears about the efficacy of their law enforcement officers."

VANDALS AT WORK—George I. Simons, General Manager of City Parks, announced Friday that the beautiful electric fountain at Hurt Park will be closed for several days to repair damage done by vandals. He said some of the lights had been damaged, apparently deliberately.

AROUND THE BEAT—Garland Steel, liaison engineer between the City and the joint Atlanta-Fulton County Bond Commission on expenditures for metropolitan Atlanta traffic improvement, will leave for Moore General Hospital, Ashville, Monday for a surgical operation. He has been in ill health for months. . . . Ernest Brewer, Mayor Hartsfield's Executive Secretary, Friday was confined to his home by illness. His condition is reported as good. . . . C. H. Van Ormer, who was one of ex-Mayor LeCraw's campaign managers, visited City Hall for the first time in two years. He emphasized there were no political implications in his calls on friends.

MAYOR'S DAY—Mayor Hartsfield Friday visited the Freedom Train, conferred with Ald. Ed A. Gilliam, Finance Committee Chairman, on 1948 fiscal policies, and with Mose Cox, Engineer for the Atlanta-Fulton County Bond Commission, on highway plans. Hartsfield was informed members of Council's Public Works Committee and Construction Chief Clark Donaldson will be admitted to future meetings of the Commission. The next session is slated for Jan. 15 at the Federal Reserve Bank.

Courthouse Digest

By DUPONT WRIGHT

WINECOFF — Judge Bond Almand Friday took under advisement the plea of the Arlington Corporation, which purchased the Winecoff Hotel three days after the fire, for removal of Receivers W. F. Buchanan and Alvin B. Cates, Sr., on the grounds they represent conflicting interests in a case they brought on behalf of the lessees of the hotel against the lessors. Arlington Atty. William G. Grant stated that the receivers represented both the Arlington Corporation and the lessees and in effect were suing themselves. He also sought their removal for failure to accept Arlington's offer to sell the property before now. Attys. "Buck" Murphy, Allen Post and Tom Branch, who said they represented 75 percent of the claimants for damages growing out of the disaster, introduced an affidavit declaring their clients satisfied with the acts of the receivers. Receiver Buchanan stated it was true Arlington had agreed to the sale of the Winecoff provided the regular legal fees were not imposed, but that he and Cates could not accept such an offer. He then offered to agree to the sale. Grant said the offer had been withdrawn. Buchanan then charged the sale of the burned-out hotel to the Arlington Corporation was fraudulent and the receivers had a right to file suit against it. Filing of the suit, he said, did not mean that the Arlington Corporation could not defend itself.

APPOINTMENTS — Sol. Gen. Paul Webb is expected within a few days to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of First Assistant Sol. J. R. Parham and Asst. Sol. Walter LeCraw. Parham has entered the race to succeed Webb in this year's primary while LeCraw resigned preliminary to entering the race for Supreme Court Justice. LeCraw has not intimated whether he will oppose Justice W. Y. Atkinson or run for the place to be vacated by Justice W. F. Jenkins.

COOL — The heating apparatus was not up to par Friday at the Courthouse and Judge Bond Almand sat on the bench wearing his overcoat. Their arguments apparently kept warm the rival lawyers in the case he was hearing.

Under the Dome

By JOHN COURIC

THROUGH THE YEARS—Gene Talmadge's monument will have a price tag on its base. A map, of bronze or stone, will show county by county how much was contributed to the memorial fund, while inside, protected from the harsh elements and ravages of time, will be the names, amounts and dates of those who contributed to the fund. That's the way, Comptroller General Zack Cravey, Fund Chairman, envisions the memorial. And he will recommend this plan to the memorial fund's Executive Committee. "We want every donation recorded—from a nickle on up," Cravey explained Friday. Thus far, the $76,200 quota is $21,500 short.

WELFARE APPOINTMENTS—W. E. Ireland, new Director of the State Department of Public Welfare, appointed W. J. Ham to the post of Acting Director of the Boys Training School in Milledgeville. Ireland vacated this post to become Welfare Director. Ham is an Army Air Force veteran and a graduate of Auburn. Ireland promoted C. H. King from an accounting job to Business Manager of the school. King, a native of Monticello, was graduated from GAB School of Commerce, Macon. . . . Incidentally, Ireland spent New Year's Day familiarizing himself with his job. Other officials took the day off.

TAG DAY—Basement corridors at the Capitol were crowded Friday from midnight on as motorists stood in line to get early tag numbers, night watchmen reported. When the first sales day closed, some 12,000 tags had been sold at the various windows in the basement. First purchasers included: T. R. Kamp, Winder, Class A; Allison A. Wood, West Point, Class C; Mrs. L. B. Duke, Atlanta, Class E.

GREETINGS—A. J. Hartley, Assistant Attorney General, and long-time holder of various State offices, is wishing his friends Happy New Year via book matches—complete with photo and picture of heart, from which Hartley's greetings come . . . State Parks Director Charlie Morgan wrote a letter with a slogan for every letter of Happy New Year.

LAGGING BEHIND—His bones were sticking out through the skin of his legs. He was dying and nowhere was there aid. He was a victim of what officials say is an obsolete Workmen's Compensation Law. P. T. McCutchen, Secretary-Treasurer of the State Board of Workmen's Compensation, used this case to illustrate the plight of those who use their hospitalization benefits before they are cured. McCutchen managed to help this worker, but this cannot be done always. He pointed out that the $500 maximum for medical treatment was not sufficient under the law. Neither is the $100 maximum for burial. Pat J. Riordan, Board Chairman, recommended these changes in the law: (1) Increase medical benefits to at least $1,000. (2) Keep weekly compensation benefits for the disabled on a level with economic conditions. (At preshent the maximum is $20 a week for 350 weeks.) (3) Raise burial benefits to $300. (4) Permit the Board to appoint widows as administrators of benefits going to their children in the event of the remarriage of widows. At present, this guardian's appointment must go through a Court of Ordinary.

Augusta Court Refuses City Charter Injunction

AUGUSTA, Jan. 2—(AP)—Superior Judge Grover C. Anderson refused Friday to grant an injunction against the Augusta city charter and set Jan. 27 as a date for hearing arguments on merits of the case.

Anderson's decision permits the charter to go into effect Monday and, for the first time, gives Augusta a city manager form of government.

Action to block the charter was brought by the five-man civil service commission which governs the city's police and fire departments.

The new charter eliminates the positions of seven city councilmen and mayor, and the civil service commission. It provides for a seven-man council and a personnel board which will supervise all non-elective city employees.

Seven holdover councilmen will select one of their own number as mayor, an honorary position.

The new city manager, George Roark, of Pensacola, will have control of all city departments and their functions.

Wallace To Quit Race, Davis Says

Georgia Rep. Davis believes Henry Wallace will withdraw as a Third Party Presidential candidate.

"I do not believe Wallace was sincere in announcing as a Third Party candidate," the Fifth District Congressman said Friday. "I think he is merely attempting to scare the Democratic Party into nominating him for Vice President. He cannot scare the Democratic Party, because he has no material support. I think he will back down from the Third Party movement."
